SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Ralph T. Smith, the speaker of the Illinois House, was named by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie today to fill the Illinois seat in the U.S. Senate left vacant by the death of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen.

Smith, a Republican from Alton, was the expected choice after Atty. Gen. William J. Scott withdrew from the race Monday. Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., of Rockford, also was a strong contender to succeed Dirksen who died Sept. 7 in Washington.

TV Networks Will Resist Censorship

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Spokesmen of two major television networks say they plan to resist censorship and cater to more sophisticated viewers, but that order to play down violence will stay in effect.

"Television is becoming more permissive all the time," Michael H. Dann, CBS-TV senior vice president for programs, told a meeting of nearly 400 broadcasting and advertising executives Tuesday.

"I know we are going to continue to be more adult."

Mort Werner, NBC-TV vice president for programs and talent, said he saw no concerted drive to censor telecasts and as for "a lowering of the curtain, I don't think so."

"I don't think the networks are going to knuckle in," he added.

Both spoke in answer to questions by members of the Hollywood Radio and Television Society who expressed apprehension over censorship threats.

"Eight to ten years ago there was an intoxicating excitement in television, with an occasional 'hell' and 'damn,'" said Harry Ackerman, vice president and executive producer of Screen Gems, Inc.

"Suddenly it's like Czechoslovakia. Everything's changed. Are the networks going to knuckle in to Pastore and institute a new dark age of censorship?"

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., who has conducted an investigation of TV program content, is an outspoken critic of violence on the home screen.

Dann commented, "Violence in our society is coming from social change. TV in effect is not responsible for it."

But, he added, "we're going to continue a de-emphasis on violence at all times."

William Self, president of 20th Century-Fox Television, recalled that about a year ago Dann called a producers' meeting on employment of Negro actors and asked if Dann had a progress report.

"All anybody has to do is turn on a set and know there is a phenomenal, explosive use of Negro performers," said Dann. "The great challenge for the industry is to get people on the other side of the camera."

Court Challenge On Miniskirts

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A ban on miniskirted attorneys in Syracuse City Court by Judge Parker J. Stone has been upheld by the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court.

Carolyn R. Peck, a 27-year-old lawyer, had appealed Stone's order to her Oct. 3 that she not appear in her court until her dress was "suitable, conventional and appropriate" for an officer of the court.

Miss Peck said her hemline was a respectable five inches above her knees at the time and that she had worn miniskirts in other courts, including the Appellate Division.

Appellate Judge John H. Farnham, in denying Miss Peck's appeal, said Tuesday a judge had the right "to regulate within reasonable limits the conduct, dress and appearance of attorneys in his court."

NASA Changes Apollo Plans Due To Work Force Slash

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — One of three launch pad working shifts is being eliminated and computers may take over some human chores during the Apollo 12 countdown in November.

These are among the operational changes being worked out by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration as a result of manpower cutbacks and a launching schedule slowdown following Apollo 11's lunar landing.

Saturn 5-Apollo launchings are now planned at the rate of one every four months instead of one every two.

"We had three vehicles in process with two-month launch intervals," said Paul C. Donnelly, launch operations manager for NASA's Kennedy Space Center.

"With four-month intervals,

President Plans Social Security Increase Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said today he will ask Congress for an increase of 10 per cent in Social Security payments, effective next April 1.

The President made the announcement, without elaboration, just before he signed a bill extending the federal support program for local projects for older Americans.

He said he considered the occasion an appropriate time to make the announcement about Social Security because older Americans are affected substantially by the rising cost of living.

Nixon said he will send the request to Congress next week.

we have two vehicles in flow instead of three."

Resulting adjustments include:

—A change from three to two shifts on the launch pad and one of three firing rooms in the launch control center.

—Closing down one of the two Saturn 5-Apollo launch pads and one of three firing rooms in the launch control center.

—Taking out of service one of three Saturn 5 mobile launch towers and one of three moon rocket assembly bays.

NASA and its contractors are reducing the moonport work force by 5,600—from 23,600 last July 1 to an estimated 18,000 by July of next year.

Most of the 5,600 are expected to be let go by late October, before Apollo 12's scheduled Nov. 14 launch.

Boeing Co., builder of the Saturn 5's first stage, had two launch teams leading up to Apollo 11. One was responsible for Apollo 8 and 10 while the other concentrated on Apollos 9 and 11.

"We're now going to a single launch team, instead of two," said John J. Cully, deputy director of the Saturn program for Boeing's Atlantic Test Center here. "We can cover peak loads with overtime, working two 12-hour shifts back to back."

To ease the strain on the launch team, project officials are considering having computers watch for several "no go" conditions during the countdown—such as incorrect temperatures or pressures in fuel tanks—which previously were assessed by men monitoring consoles in the launch control center.

Vietnam Cutback To Bring Smaller Future Draft Calls

Viet War 'Accidents' Claim 16

SAIGON (AP) — Nine Americans and seven Vietnamese were killed in Vietnam war accidents in the past four days, the U.S. Command announced today. Another 17 Vietnamese and 10 Americans were wounded in the incidents.

Most of the American casualties occurred Saturday. U.S. headquarters said eight men from the 1st Infantry Division were killed and 10 wounded when an explosive charge they were placing near an artillery base blew up.

The accident occurred 33 miles northwest of Saigon and is being investigated.

A U.S. Marine was killed

Tuesday six miles south of the demilitarized zone when a helicopter rotor blade hit him. The helicopter was lifting a Marine patrol out after a brief fight.

The 24 South Vietnamese were killed or wounded in an American gunship attack Tuesday in the Mekong Delta about 100 miles southwest of Saigon.

The U.S. helicopter gunships opened fire with rockets and machine guns on suspected enemy troops who turned out to be civilians 18 miles northwest of Bac Lien, a provincial capital.

U.S. headquarters said four men and three women were killed, and 12 men and five women were wounded.

"The incident is being investigated," a communique said.

The enemy forces supposed to be in the area were never located, and there was no fighting, spokesmen said.

According to the U.S. account, South Vietnamese regional forces were landed in the area by American helicopters after intelligence reports that there were Viet Cong troops there.

"As the regional force troops were landed," the U.S. Command said, "an unknown number of suspected enemy were observed evading from the area. U.S. Army helicopter gunships supporting the ground force were cleared by the senior government of Vietnam representative on the operation to engage the evading personnel with aerial machine-gun and rocket fire.

Asked why the people were fired on if they had not been positively identified as Viet Cong, a U.S. spokesman said: "It is not a friendly area. They were probably making a move that led the Vietnamese commander to believe they were enemy. I don't know whether the terrain was such as you could easily tell whether weapons were being carried or not."

Meanwhile, military sources said South Vietnamese troops will take over the entire defense of Saigon within the next 30 days, freeing a brigade of American paratroopers.

Nixon Studies More Slashes Before 1970

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird indicated today draft calls for the months ahead will be reduced as a result of the new troop reduction in Vietnam and an over-all 20,000 man cutback in U.S. armed strength.

"The Vietnamization program will have a very substantial effect on programmed draft calls for the months ahead," Laird told a news conference.

The defense secretary said he will inform the Selective Service System Friday of the planned changes and will urge Congress that same day to enact reform legislation designed to remove inequities in the draft.

Although Laird refused to say flatly there would be draft cuts, his words carried that clear intent. Sources hinted the October draft call of 29,000 probably will be reduced.

Administration sources indicated meanwhile President Nixon still hopes he may be able to move before the end of the year to boost U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam to about 100,000 men.

Even as Laird prepared for today's public detailing of Nixon's order Tuesday withdrawing at least another 35,000 troops from the war zone by Dec. 15, the sources said the manpower situation would be reviewed again, presumably before 1970.

Laird disclosed the latest withdrawal from Vietnam will include the remainder of the 3rd Marine Division, leaving only one Marine division in the northernmost I Corps and shift- (Continued on Page 2)

Vote Scheduled On Military Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate critics of defense spending, after losing all attempts to halt or cutback new weapons programs, have opened their final drive to amend the $20 billion military procurement authorization bill.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., presented an amendment scheduled for a vote today, to restrict U.S. military aid to Laos and Thailand to supplies and equipment—no combat troops.

Also awaiting a vote was a compromise version of a proposal for a check on defense contract profits.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said he hoped these votes might mean an end to Senate debate on the measure which has been before the chamber since July 7.

The Senate Tuesday slapped down the last attempt to cut a major military project, voting 56-31 against an amendment to trim funds for the Advanced Manned Strategic Aircraft. Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., sponsored the proposal to reduce from $100 million to $20 million the amount for the Air Force's new long range bomber.

Senators then unanimously approved a compromise proposal by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to limit Pentagon contracting for independent research and development to $468 million. The funds, some $117 million below the present total, are used for projects not necessarily related to defense.

But the amendment did not affect the total in the bill, which stands at just a shade below $20 billion after reductions on the Senate floor totaling $70.6 million.

New Kidneys Are Given 2 Persons

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio State University College of Medicine has announced successful completion of its 31st and 32nd kidney transplant operations.

The latest recipients are Everett Holley, 37, of Columbus, and Christine Honingford, 8, of Delphos.

Christine, a patient at Children's Hospital, received her new kidney from her mother, Mrs. Walter B. Honingford, Aug. 19, and is reported in good condition.

Holley's donor was his sister, Mrs. Mary Morehead of near Pataskala. He also is well following his operation three weeks ago. Eight of the 32 transplant operations have been carried out at Children's Hospital and 24 at University Hospital.

One of the transplant team members, Dr. G. James Cerilli, said six patients are now awaiting kidney transplants.

Robert Wolfe, the first kidney transplant patient at University Hospital Nov. 1, 1967, is reported living a normal life.

Israeli Jets Hit Egyptian Gulf Bases

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli planes hit Egyptian military targets on the western shore of the Gulf of Suez today in Israel's seventh air strike across the gulf in nine days, the Israeli army announced.

The planes returned safely from the 30-minute attack at Raz Zaharana, 70 miles south of Port Suez, the spokesman said.

Further north, Israeli and Egyptian artillery battled intermittently across the Suez Canal today, and one Israeli soldier was wounded, the Israeli army reported.

Egyptian anti-air and artillery fire hit an Israeli patrol north of the Bitter Lakes, a spokesman said.

The army also said five border policemen were slightly wounded during the night when their patrol came under small-arms fire and a grenade attack between Bethlehem and Hal-houl, in the occupied West Bank territory. The fire was returned and a search was launched, a spokesman said.

An earlier Israeli communique said an Israeli soldier was killed and another injured in artillery and small arms duels Tuesday across the Suez Canal. The communique said there was repeated firing along the canal, and the casualties occurred south of the Bitter Lakes.

Three children in the Gaza Strip town of Rafiah were wounded Tuesday when a bomb they were playing with exploded.

Construction has been delayed about a month because of the refusal of the city to grant the permit.

The contract for construction of the facility has been awarded to Sever-Williams Co. of Washington C. H. Construction cost is about $465,000 and the total cost of the facility is $650,000.

Officers of the corporation said that groundbreaking will begin as quickly as possible.

The Circleville - Pickaway Corporation was formed to invest money locally.

The members decided that a health care center and nursing home was badly needed by Circleville.

Robert Kenworthy is president and Richard Penn secretary of the corporation. A mandamus action was filed in Pickaway Common Pleas Court this month asking the court to order the city to issue the permit. A hearing had been scheduled Friday in the mandamus action.

An official of the corporation today said the mandamus suit will be dropped as soon as the building permit is issued by the city.

Circleville City Council Tuesday passed 11 appropriation ordinances transferring a total of $32,095.35 from unappropriated sources to various departments.

Councilman David Goldschmidt, chairman of council's finance committee, warned his fellow council members that they were overspending their budgets.

According to Goldschmidt, the city will be operating on a very close budget for the remainder of the year. "There's no use of making a budget for the departments if they don't stick to it," he said.

In addition to the appropriation measures, council extended the age limit to take civil service examinations for the police and fire departments from 21 to 36 years of age.

The ordinance was passed after Chief of Police Robert Temple and Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe both stated that it would

Hurricane Holly Rolls Northwest Across Atlantic

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Holly maintained a northwest course across the Atlantic today, more than 900 miles east of Puerto Rico. Weather Bureau scientists kept watch for a possible attempt to curb its fury.

Reports from Air Force reconnaissance aircraft showed Holly's top winds were 75 miles an hour—minimal strength for a hurricane.

The National Hurricane Center said little change in intensity was expected today. Holly was forecast to continue moving toward the northwest at about 10 m.p.h.

An attempt to bombard the hurricane with silver iodide crystals was tentatively scheduled for Thursday, depending on the storm's location at that time.

The legislation was made possible by HB 297.

An ordinance prohibiting any agency or person from advertising the cost of lenses in eyeglasses was held to a first reading. The ordinance, according to Dr. Robert Liggett, a local optometrist, is presently in effect in Columbus and Lancaster.

Dr. Liggett said the Ohio Optometric Assn. favored the legislation and that it has been tested and held valid by the Supreme Court. It is designed to insure honesty in advertising.

Councilman Noble Barr moved it be held to a first reading to permit further study of the action. It was presented by Dr. Goldschmidt.

Berlin Talks Still Alive

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union in notes to the Western Big Three has kept alive prospects of East-West talks aimed at defusing the Berlin powder keg permanently, diplomatic officials said today.

Informants said a joint American, British and French statement will soon announce receipt of the Soviet message.

It was relayed in Moscow Friday in the form of an answer to a joint Western approach that sought to probe the significance of a statement made by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko last July.

Gromyko hinted then that Russia may be ready for talks aimed at "eliminating now and forever complications around West Berlin."

Terms of Russia's new message were made known to the permanent council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Brussels today.

Bucyrus Firemen Fight Big Fire

BUCYRUS, Ohio (AP) — Firemen were still on the scene of a fire here early today, more than 12 hours after flames struck offices and warehouses of the Crawford Home Lumber Co.

Company officials said it would be several days before damage could be estimated.

The fire broke out shortly after 6 p. m. Tuesday from unknown causes. Flames destroyed the office area, but firemen were able to save part of the warehouse.

Four firemen were treated for smoke inhalation.

The Senate Tuesday slapped down the last attempt to cut a major military project, voting 56-31 against an amendment to trim funds for the Advanced Manned Strategic Aircraft. Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., sponsored the proposal to reduce from $100 million to $20 million the amount for the Air Force's new long range bomber.

Senators then unanimously approved a compromise proposal by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to limit Pentagon contracting for independent research and development to $468 million. The funds, some $117 million below the present total, are used for projects not necessarily related to defense.

4 Persons Road Victims

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The latest list of Ohioans killed in traffic accidents includes Hamilton, Ashland, Lorain and Seneca County residents.

The dead: BOWLING GREEN — Earl Ashe, widely known in northern Ohio political circles, late Tuesday when his pickup truck and a tractor-trailer loaded with steel pipe collided at a U.S. 6 intersection east of Bowling Green, Ashe, 83, was a delegate to the 1966 and 1969 Republican national conventions and a member of the executive committee of the Seneca County GOP organization.

CINCINNATI — Rebecca Tudor, 6, Tuesday night when she was struck by a car after darting into the street at a Cincinnati street intersection.

ASHLAND — Seven M. Highman, 16, of head injuries Monday night in Akron General Hospital. He was the third victim of a single car crash in Ashland Saturday.

ELYRIA — Joseph Panchak, Jr., 17, of Elyria, Tuesday night in Elyria Memorial Hospital of injuries suffered when a car in which he was a passenger collided with a truck just outside Elyria's city limits.

Man Found Dead In Wrecked Auto

CINCINNATI (AP) — A man identified as William Neville, 56, of the Mt. Washington area, was found dead in his automobile today after it had struck a guard rail on an east side street.

Police were unable to determine immediately whether Neville had suffered a heart attack or had died as a result of injuries suffered in the accident.

City Fathers Clear Way For Health Care Center

Circleville City Council, the planning and zoning commission and the Circleville-Pickaway Corporation reached an agreement Tuesday that will permit the construction of a 60-bed nursing and health care center on Clark Drive.

The corporation, a group of local investors, had been refused a building permit by the planning and zoning unit on the grounds that no provisions were made for extending Clark Drive and Sunview Drive.

The commission felt that good planning called for the extension of both streets to property presently owned by Charles Walters.

Tuesday, officers of the corporation met with the commission and entered into a contract to pay 50 per cent of the cost of constructing the streets if the city decides to extend them within 10 years.

THE agreement says that Sunview is to be constructed "no sooner than five years." A ten year limit has been placed on the contract.

The north side of Clark Drive is owned by the Circleville School Board. Before a street is constructed, the city will have to determine whether it will pay the remaining 50 per cent of the cost or ask the school to foot the bill.

Council passed a resolution accepting the contract. City Councilman David Goldschmidt, upon passage of the action, urged that a building permit be issued to the corporation as quickly as possible.

Construction has been delayed about a month because of the refusal of the city to grant the permit.

The contract for construction of the facility has been awarded to Sever-Williams Co. of Washington, D.C. Construction cost is about $485,000 and the total cost of the facility is $650,000.

Officers of the corporation said that groundbreaking will begin as quickly as possible.

PLANS for the health care center call for it to be enlarged eventually to a 240 bed facility The Circleville - Pickaway Corporation was formed to invest money locally.

The members decided that a health care center and nursing home was badly needed by Circleville.

Robert Kenworthy is president and Richard Penn secretary of the corporation.

A mandamus action was filed in Pickaway Common Pleas Court this month asking the court to order the city to issue the permit. A hearing had been scheduled Friday in the mandamus action.

An official of the corporation today said the mandamus suit will be dropped as soon as the building permit is issued by the city.

City Council OKs Appropriations Totaling $32,095

Circleville City Council Tuesday passed 11 appropriation ordinances transferring a total of $32,095.35 from unappropriated sources to various departments.

Councilman David Goldschmidt, chairman of council's finance committee, warned his fellow council members that they were overspending their budgets.

According to Goldschmidt, the city will be operating on a very close budget for the remainder of the year. "There's no use of making a budget for the departments if they don't stick to it," he said.

In addition to the appropriation measures, council extended the age limit to take civil service examinations for the police and fire departments from 21 to 35 years of age.

THE ordinance was passed after Chief of Police Robert Temple and Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe both stated that it would increase the number of candidates for the departments.

The legislation was made possible by HB 297.

An ordinance prohibiting any agency or person from advertising the cost of lenses in eyeglasses was held to a first reading. The ordinance, according to Dr. Robert Liggett, a local optometrist, is presently in effect in Columbus and Lancaster.

Dr. Liggett said the Ohio Optometric Assn. favored the legislation and that it has been tested and held valid by the Supreme Court. It is designed to insure honesty in advertising.

Councilman Noble Barr moved it be held to a first reading to permit further study of the action. It was presented by Dr. Goldschmidt.

Council authorized safety director Robert Adkins to add.

Hurricane Holly Rolls Northwest Across Atlantic

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Holly maintained a northwest course across the Atlantic today, more than 900 miles east of Puerto Rico. Weather Bureau scientists kept watch for a possible attempt to curb its fury.

Reports from Air Force reconnaissance aircraft showed Holly's top winds were 75 miles an hour—minimal strength for a hurricane.

The National Hurricane Center said little change in intensity was expected today. Holly was forecast to continue moving toward the northwest at about 10 m.p.h.

An attempt to bombard the hurricane with silver iodide crystals was tentatively scheduled for Thursday, depending on the storm's location at that time.

Berlin Talks Still Alive

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union in notes to the Western Big Three has kept alive prospects of East-West talks aimed at defusing the Berlin powder keg permanently, diplomatic officials said today.

Informants said a joint American, British and French statement will soon announce receipt of the Soviet message.

It was relayed in Moscow Friday in the form of an answer to a joint Western approach that sought to probe the significance of a statement made by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko last July.

Gromyko hinted then that Russia may be ready for talks aimed at "eliminating now and forever complications around West Berlin."

Terms of Russia's new message were made known to the permanent council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Brussels today.

Honey Bees Are Killed By Pesticide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A recent mosquito control program has wiped out most of the honey bees in nine counties of north central Ohio and honey producers plan to ask for state aid to help recover.

The Ohio Department of Health contracted several weeks ago with a firm to spray an insecticide to kill swarms of mosquitoes in the region.

The mosquitoes had hatched from surface water left after the July 4-5 storms and floods across northern Ohio.

Health officials feared an outbreak of encephalitis might result.

The spraying killed mosquitoes but also did away with the honey bees.

The effect will be felt in the fall crop of honey and Department of Agriculture officials fear it may also affect the natural pollination of plants carried on by bees.

Dr. Emmett Arnold, director of the state health department, said there are ways to protect bees but that honey producers apparently did not get word of the spraying in time.

State Agriculture Director John M. Stackhouse said about 100 persons in the area gain most of their income from honey sales and that another 2,000 persons keep bees as a hobby.

Stackhouse estimates it could take two years to rebuild the bee population.

Bucyrus Firemen Fight Big Fire

BUCYRUS, Ohio (AP) — Firemen were still on the scene of a fire here early today, more than 12 hours after flames struck offices and warehouses of the Crawford Home Lumber Co.

Company officials said it would be several days before damage could be estimated. The fire broke out shortly after 6 p.m. Tuesday from unknown causes. Flames destroyed the office area, but firemen were able to save part of the warehouse.

Four firemen were treated for smoke inhalation.

Three Injured In Car-Truck Accident Near Darbyville

PARKED CAR HIT — The station wagon above was parked when it was struck by a truck 14 miles north of Circleville on the Circleville-London-Northern Road.

Three persons were injured when a dump truck struck a parked car near Darbyville at 2:40 p.m. Tuesday.

Taken to Childrens Hospital, Columbus, where they were admitted were Michael Dunlap, 5, and Phillip Dunlap, 4, sons of Mr. and Mrs. David Dunlap, Mt. Sterling. Both sustained head injuries and Michael a fractured collar bone.

Mrs. Phyllis Westbury, 44, was admitted to Berger Hospital for treatment of abrasions, contusions, and back injuries.

Ford Raises Auto Prices Average $108

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co., the nation's No. 2 automaker, today announced its 1970 model cars would cost an average of $108 more than current models, an increase of 3.6 per cent.

Ford, shooting for a bigger share of the market now held by industry leader General Motors, came up with a price boost smaller than GM's $125 or 3.9 per cent increase.

The company also said it was holding the line on the price of its fast selling little Maverick, which goes for $1,995. Next to the 1970 Hornet being marketed by American Motors, the Maverick will be the lowest priced American-made auto. American Motors says its new Hornet will sell for $1,994. Trying to avoid being put at a competitive disadvantage by GM, Ford changed its mind on its warranty program after General Motors announced it was sticking with its five-year, 50,000-mile power train warranty.

Ford, which had announced in August it was trimming its warranty to one year with no limits on mileage or number of owners, now says it will offer a power train warranty of five years or 50,000 miles at an additional cost.

Ford sold 27.5 per cent of the American-made cars marketed between Jan. 1 and Sept. 10 while General Motors held more than half the market.

Like GM, Ford cited increased costs in labor, materials and taxes as the prime reasons for the price hikes.

Both Ford and GM said a number of previously optional items, such as fiberglass belted tires, would be standard equipment on 1970 models.

Cars shipped for sale in California will be equipped with a mandatory exhaust emission control system priced at $35, Ford said.

The $108 dollar price increase posted by Ford includes the federal excise tax. Ford said the average increase in the list price of its 1970 models would be $103 compared to $119 for GM.

The list price does not include any taxes or dealer handling or delivery charges.

The Ford 1970 prices range from the $1,995 Maverick to the $6,822 for the Continental Mark III, up $353 dollars over 1969.

See Major Nixon Proposals Held Over Until Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has acknowledged that virtually all his major legislative proposals will be held over by Congress until next year, Republican sources say.

At a lengthy session Tuesday with GOP congressional leaders, Nixon put his legislative proposals on a green-light, red-light basis, the sources said.

In the green-light classification were bills the President will press for immediate action. But these generally were measures which Congress must consider this year since they extend programs already operating.

The red light group designated proposals Nixon is said to feel won't be acted on until next year—including most of his major recommendations.

Among the measures rated in the red light category:

—Postal reform creating a self-sustaining corporation to take over the mails.

—Crime-fighting measures including bills on organized crime, illegal gambling, and immunity from prosecution so testimony can be given by reluctant witnesses.

Among the other Nixon measures already assigned to the red light list are his welfare, manpower and revenue sharing proposals; drug control; mass transit development; unemployment insurance and voting rights revision and extension.

Among the bills rated on Nixon's green light program were foreign aid, export control, food stamps, housing, aid for hospital construction, student loans, education aid, obscenity control and coal mine safety.

Nixon also told the leaders he wants action this year to extend the income surtax, and provide tax relief and reform.

Senate Democrats have refused to approve a long term surtax extension without tax reform. The latter issue is now before the Senate Finance Committee.

Nixon also was quoted as urging swift action on draft reform—an unlikely prospect.

After nine months in session, Congress has acted on little major legislation. The Senate, for example, has been locked all summer in debate on a single bill, the $20 billion military authorization measure.

Haynsworth Gains Support For Post As U.S. Justice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judge Clement F. Haynsworth's denial of any conflict of interests in a 1963 court decision seems to be drawing some support from the liberal-moderate bloc on the Senate committee considering his appointment to the Supreme Court.

The Army will send 14,263 men home, including a brigade and support elements.

The Navy cut will total 5,239 in construction battalions and support elements, while the Air Force will reduce by 2,541 men in combat squadrons and support outfits.

This total comes to 40,500 spaces a reduction from the authorized ceiling of 549,500 men which never has been met. The actual number of men being pulled out totals about 35,000.

Added to 25,000 brought out during the summer, the new Nixon decision will raise to 60,000 the number of American servicemen pulled back under the administration program to reduce the U.S. battle role and shift it gradually to the South Vietnamese.

Laird said the pull-back will result in an additional inactivation of 20,000 men from the over-all strength of U.S. armed forces. Most of these troop reductions will be from the Army and in the United States.

$1,200 from the income tax fund to the following funds in the police department: incidentals, $300; supplies, $200; maintenance of equipment, $500; sustenance of prisoners, $200;

$425 from the income tax fund to the fire department maintenance fund;

$25 from the general fund to the general fund of the service department to pay Elmer Jenkins for mowing weeds;

$845.35 from the general fund to the service department curbs and gutters fund to pay Charles Smith for construction of curbs and gutters on E. Union St.;

$3,000 from the permissive motor vehicle license tax fund to the materials account within the same fund;

$25,000 from the capital improvement account of the city income tax fund to the major street improvement fund.

City council recessed following last night's session and will meet in an adjourned session Sept. 30.

Man Pardoned After 37 Years In Kansas Pen

TOPEKA (AP) — The office of Gov. Robert Docking announced today the governor has granted a full pardon to 70-year-old Frank Sawyer, saying the inmate of the Kansas State Penitentiary was innocent of a 1932 bank robbery.

Sawyer has been serving a 20 to 100 year sentence for the robbery at Fort Scott, Kan.

A former public enemy No. 1, Alvin Karpis, now on parole in Montreal had said that he and several others committed the bank robbery 37 years ago, and that Sawyer did not take part.

The man who prosecuted Sawyer also testified. He said he now believes that Sawyer did not participate in the robbery.

Docking said the recommendation for a pardon had been made by his pardon attorney Robert Ochs, and by the Board of Probation and Parole.

Six Men Called In September Draft

The Business World

By JACK LEFLER (For John Cuniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — A distinguished economist says in a new book that the whole blame for inflation can't be put on the Vietnam war.

The book, "The Business Cycle in a Changing World," is a collection of the writings of Arthur F. Burns, adviser to President Nixon and chairman of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers from 1953 to 1956. It was published by the National Bureau of Economic Research, of which he has been president and chairman.

"The new inflation started before Vietnam was of any financial or economic consequence," Burns says. "Prices of raw materials began moving up in spirited fashion as early as the fall of 1963. By June of 1964 the average level of all wholesale prices began rising. Between that month and June 1965 the whole sale price index rose 3 per cent."

"Moreover, price advances spread out over the economy well before mid-1965. During the second half of 1964, 12 of the 15 major groups of commodities covered by the official index of wholesale prices registered advances. During the next six months, 14 of the 15 groups showed price increases. Clearly, inflation had already taken hold and became widespread many months before Vietnam began adding appreciably to aggregate money demand."

Burns contends that the "simple explanation that the recent price-wage spiral is attributable to the war in Vietnam must be rejected."

Burns is critical of what he describes as the shifting economic policy of the administration of former President Lyndon B. Johnson. He notes that apart from the investment tax credit which became effective in November 1966, Johnson did not ask for an increase in taxes before January 1967.

"By that time," he writes, "the wholesale price level had already been rising 2 1/2 years."

And when the president did ask for higher income taxes, he asked merely for an increase of 6 per cent, to become effective at midyear. In the face of an explosive increase in federal spending, this request did not convey any great sense of urgency.

"More over, within a few weeks of asking for a tax increase in the interest of restricting the growth of aggregate demand, the administration actually stepped up its efforts to stimulate demand. Substantial funds for housing and highways, which had only recently been impounded, were released by March 1967. In March also, the president requested the Congress to reinstate the investment tax credit for machinery and equipment."

This, according to Burns, meant that the administration was asking for a substantial tax cut for business firms instead of the tax increase suggested a few weeks earlier.

He adds that the "abrupt shift" in early 1967 towards a more liberal fiscal policy was accompanied by a more liberal monetary policy.

"Thus, despite the war in Vietnam," Burns says, "the government acted during much of the year (1967) as if a recession were under way instead of coming to grips with the menacing reality of inflation."

A persistent office seeker had been endeavoring unsuccessfully to bribe, bully, or wheedle his way into President Abraham Lincoln's office for weeks, and finally wrote a heart-breaking note to Lincoln begging for an appointment. Lincoln knew the man to be an incompetent bore, and turned down the request with this typically Lincolnian letter:

"When I was young, I was pleased to receive an invitation to a dance, and bought a fine new hat for the occasion. I was among the last to leave the dance, and at the cloakroom the attendant handed me a shabby, battered old hat. I told him, 'This isn't my hat, sir. I wore a brand new one.' The attendant replied, 'Mr. Lincoln, the new ones were all gone an hour ago.'"

The office seeker never bothered Lincoln again.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Are there any new short-cut methods for testing a person for an allergic condition? I have had three series of skin tests and all of them came out differently.

I live on a farm and keep animals. My nose is always stuffed and I am miserable.

Mr. L. S. Iowa

Dear Mr. S.: Yes, a stuffed nose is truly a special kind of misery. Having to breathe through the mouth is bad enough during the day, but at night the dryness it causes interferes with sleep and rest.

One of the major problems in the control of allergies is that a person may be sensitive to one substance or to a combination of them. For example, a man may not be sensitive to cheese and may not be sensitive to ham, but may react to a combination of ham and cheese.

Now, add mustard or another ingredient and you can readily see how difficult it can be to track down the offending substances.

You live on a farm where there are grasses, flowers, trees. Any of these singly or in combination may be the factory in your case. Dander from any of the animals could certainly be a contributing cause.

When these are added to other pollens, fungi, cosmetics, foods, drugs and changes of temperature, we get a better perspective of how difficult these problems are, both for the patient and for the doctor.

Patients react differently to the same types of skin testing if they are done at different times of the year. This, too, may account for the confusion in your case.

Skin testing is probably the most reliable method used by the allergists. There are many new approaches being tried in research laboratories. Only your own specialist in allergy can decide if you are a candidate for some of these newer techniques.

Are you sure you haven't been "doctor hopping," and with understandable impatience, have not given any one physician an opportunity to really follow through on your case?

The anti-histamine, or anti-allergy drugs are effective in many cases of chronic allergic rhinitis (allergy of the nose). One of the frequent mistakes made is to take such a drug only when the symptoms are most severe. This is worthless, because the drug acts by building up in the blood stream, and therefore must be taken at regular intervals, three or four times a day for an extended period of time.

The reason for this neglect is that so many anti-allergy drugs tend to make the patient sleepy. There are dozens of kinds of anti-histamines. By trying them, one can be found that is beneficial without the side-effect of sleepiness.

Small doses of cortisone, used ONLY for the period that it is prescribed by the doctor, may bring welcome relief to some sufferers of allergic rhinitis.

John E. Reynolds pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court here, Judge Hubert Will directed that the sentence be served in a medical center.

Prosecutors said Reynolds escaped Feb. 20 from the Dayton State Hospital and went to Chicago. They said he voluntarily entered a veterans hospital in suburban Chicago Feb. 21 but escaped from there also.

He was arrested by Secret Service agents April 2 and sent to a government hospital for treatment. The most recent letter Reynolds wrote, they said, was sent Aug. 14 from the federal tier at Cook County Jail.

Sturgeons once were so plentiful in the Hudson that residents called them "Albany Beef." Nearby Massachusetts seiners, catching and pickling Atlantic sturgeon, hauled in 18-foot giants.

The size of the U.S. dollar bill was reduced just 40 years ago — back in the summer of 1929. And it sure has been shrinking (in value) ever since!

No snake travels faster than 3 1/2 miles an hour — nature item. No wonder the jungles are simply awash with them!

In 1903, we read, autos could go no faster than 25 miles an hour. And that, we'll wager, was probably downhill

Soon will come the time when the average suburbanite will find he's having his downs-and-ups instead of ups-and-downs. Down will come the screens and up will go the storm windows.

The original astronaut may have been Menippus, whose adventures in outer space were chronicled by a second-century Greek writer, Lucian of Samos. Menippus used wings, and for him the moon was merely a stopover en route to Mount Olympus and a visit with Zeus.

The 'Lindsay Finesse'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
Query: How do you know how far to go with a finesse? This is the problem currently agitating supporters of John V. Lindsay in the campaign to get their tiger re-elected Mayor of New York City.

It's really quite a problem, for the arithmetic based on polls shows that Mario Procaccino, the nominee of the organization Democrats, is probably close to a peak which barring campaign slips or scandal, could approach forty per cent of the November 4 election day total. Since Procaccino, the Democrat and John Marchi, the "other Italian" who will appear on both the Republican and Conservative Party lines, should come close to garnering sixty per cent of the vote between them, the Lindsay finesse involves chiseling off a little of Procaccino's lead strength and, assuming that it is too conservative to go to Lindsay himself on the Liberal Party line, letting it slip to Marchi. If successful, the finesse, which is being artfully cultivated in certain "watch Marchi" news stories, would evenly split the ethnic Italian and the conservative vote, thus permitting Lindsay to win with fewer than a million New Yorkers in his corner.

The danger, of course, is that a swing to Marchi might go too far, too fast. Marchi, both as a Republican and Conservative, is having a hard time keeping up with what former Senatorial candidate James Buckley, who heads the Marchi Conservative Party fund raising drive, refers to as the "liberal money that is flooding into New York to salvage Lindsay's fortunes." But the Lindsay strategy has a weary look: it consists of trying to splice together an alliance of the New Left (the Gene McCarthy and Paul O'Dwyer groups) the old Frank Sinatra Rat Pack, the so-called Beautiful People (rich folks who think it just dandy to devote a little, a very little, of their energy to helping Puerto Ricans and blacks in a patronizing way), and the faded-faded Arthur Schlesinger.

John Galbraith intellectuals who have been pushed out of Washington and back to Manhattan and Cambridge, Mass. These people can raise money, but the outer boroughs of New York City are manifestly growing tired of their pretensions.

The Republicans and the Conservatives are attracting their own Big Name heroes: ex-pugilist author Rocky Graziano ("Somebody Up There Likes Me") and Orson Bean, for example, are in Marchi's corner, and even Ed Koch, the ultraliberal Democratic Congressman from John Lindsay's old Seventeenth District, who can't very well vote for a Republican for ideological reasons, has said that Marchi is the "most decent" of the three candidates.

The Conservative Party mail appeal, signed by Jim Buckley, went to 475,000 potential donors and offered membership in the "Retire John Lindsay Club." Since there are very few fat cats on the Conservative lists, the hopes for this appeal are based on a multiplication of the so-called dribs-and-drabs contributions of five, ten and twenty dollars. The Republican Party, with access to richer sources provided they can be pried off the fence, is getting set for a $1 million drive for Marchi, with Nelson Rockefeller's State Racing Commission Chairman, Joseph Gimma, heading it. With professional help, the Republicans and Conservatives hope to creep within financial shouting distance of the Lindsayites. And the professional help is coming, the crack Washington, D.C., publicist organization of Victor Gold Associates, and the Nixon advertising agency, Feeley and Wheeler, will soon be working for Marchi and Juan del Castillo, one of Jeremiah Milbank's big money raisers in the Nixon campaign, will also be in their pitching.

From an abstract arithmetical standpoint the Marchi forces have reason to hope for an astounding victory. Putting together the outer borough or non-Manhattan Republicans, the 200,000 Democrats who voted for Jim Buckley when he was running for Senator on the Conservative line and the Conservative Party adherents, Marchi, on the basis of past campaigns, could pass the million mark. So it is easy to see why some of the Lindsay people are worried lest the finesse of carving a little something away from Procaccino's current lead strength might go a mile too far.

NEW YORK (AP) — What do you collect? Stamps? Coins? Old silver? Memories?

Memories are the best of all things to collect. They have several advantages over other possessions that people prize and save.

They never decrease in interest, they can be shared with other people without diminishing their value, and you don't have to put them away in a costly safe-deposit box, as you do diamonds, to protect them from thieves.

Many folks might envy your precious store of memories; none would be so heartless as to wish to steal them from you.

And your album of memories

is pretty extensive if you can look back and remember when

You could write your congressman a penny post card telling him why you didn't think he was worth 2 cents.

About the only people who wore wigs were Shakespearean actors.

You saw more white horses on the street than you did men with beards.

Before the advent of television, critics complained that the quality of programs on the radio had brought American cultural history to a new low.

The most common household tools for bridging the generation gap were the hairbrush and the old-fashioned razor strap, applied locally as required. You could kiss a pretty girl at a church social for a dollar or less — and not feel short-changed.

One of the big thrills of boyhood was getting a job clerking in a grocery store on Saturdays and learning how to perch a pencil on your ear as if you had done it all your life.

Mother always kept enough money in the cookie jar to tide the family over any financial crisis the last two days before payday.

A barbershop quartet could harmonize the strains of "Old Black Joe" without worrying over the possibility they'd incite a race riot.

It was taken for granted that any lad with gumption would be seized with wanderlust and try to run away from home before his 16th birthday.

The slips that girls wore beneath their dresses were at least three times as long as the miniskirts they wear today.

In a large family mother would review at the supper table the sins during the day of each of the kids, and father, after staring sternly in turn at each squirming culprit, would finally lay down his knife and say, "For Pete's sake, can't all this wait until a man finishes eating?"

Film star Marion Davies started to build a $7,500 beach home at Santa Monica in the 1920s, and finally wound up with a $7-million showplace staffed by 32 servants.

You could take an evening stroll in almost any section of a city without fear of being nudged.

Yesterday's Answer

Geraldine Chaplin

By BOB THOMAS
AP Television-Movie Writer

LIHUE, Hawaii (AP) — You see the evidence of her father in the eyes, especially when they squint into a smile. But when she speaks, it's certain that Geraldine Chaplin is her own woman.

She is the eldest of the eight children of Charlie Chaplin and Oona O'Neill Chaplin and so far the most famous. As yet her acting fame has been based on her role of Omar Sharif's wife in "Dr. Zhivago," which she did when she was a very inexperienced 21. It showed. She seemed out of her depth amid a cast of skilled performers.

Now she is acting in her second major movie, costarring with Charlton Heston in "The Hawaiians." She plays plantation magnate Heston's wife, actually a composite of about six different island ladies in the James Michener novel, "Hawaii." This time Geraldine Chaplin feels prepared thanks to her experience in European films, most of them bad.

"The first picture I did was 'On a Beautiful Summer Morning,' with Jean Paul Belmondo, and it was pretty awful," she recalled. "Then came 'Zhivago,' which I loved. I thought I would be getting lots of offers for American pictures after that but I didn't."

Next came such dismal films as "I Killed Rasputin," (French), "We Shall Go to the City" (Italian) and "Cop Out" (British). Her last three movies were Spanish-made—"Peppermint Frappe," "Stress," "Hom-ecomb"—and she liked them all. No wonder. They were directed by one of Spain's brightest young directors, Carlos Saura, with whom she shares a Madrid apartment she bought with her "Zhivago" earnings.

Saura and his two young sons are living with Geraldine near the Kauai Island location in handsome house nestled in the crater of an extinct volcano. He is married, but being a Spaniard, the chances of a divorce are virtually nil.

"It doesn't matter to either of us," said Miss Chaplin. "We are perfectly happy the way we are."

The actress' engagement for "The Hawaiians" came quite by surprise, she said.

"The Mirisch company asked me to go to Hollywood and test for the role, so I did," she remarked. "Then they said, 'We'll call you,' and I figured that would be the last I would hear. But then they did call me, and I went back to Hollywood to begin preparing for the picture."

Film workers on "The Hawaiians" didn't know what to expect from the daughter of the famous comedian, who had left America amid much acrimony. They have been delighted to find her relaxed, natural—and perfectly frank.

Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers from 1953 to 1956. It was published by the National Bureau of Economic Research, of which he has been president and chairman.

"The new inflation started before Vietnam was of any financial or economic consequence," Burns says. "Prices of raw materials began moving up in spirited fashion as early as the fall of 1963. By June of 1964 the average level of all wholesale prices began rising. Between that month and June 1965 the whole sale price index rose 3 per cent."

"Moreover, price advances spread out over the economy well before mid-1965. During the second half of 1964, 12 of the 15 major groups of commodities covered by the official index of wholesale prices registered advances. During the next six months, 14 of the 15 groups showed price increases. Clearly, inflation had already taken hold and became widespread many months before Vietnam began adding appreciably to aggregate money demand."

Burns contends that the "simple explanation that the recent price-wage spiral is attributable to the war in Vietnam must be rejected."

Burns is critical of what he describes as the shifting economic policy of the administration of former President Lyndon B. Johnson. He notes that apart from the investment tax credit which became effective in November 1966, Johnson did not ask for an increase in taxes before January 1967.

"By that time," he writes, "the wholesale price level had already been rising 2 1/2 years. And when the president did ask for higher income taxes, he asked merely for an increase of 6 per cent, to become effective at midyear. In the face of an explosive increase in federal spending, this request did not convey any great sense of urgency.

"More over, within a few weeks of asking for a tax increase in the interest of restricting the growth of aggregate demand, the administration actually stepped up its efforts to stimulate demand. Substantial funds for housing and highways, which had only recently been impounded, were released by March 1967. In March also, the president requested the Congress to reinstate the investment tax credit for machinery and equipment."

This, according to Burns, meant that the administration was asking for a substantial tax cut for business firms instead of the tax increase suggested a few weeks earlier.

He adds that the "abrupt shift" in early 1967 towards a more liberal fiscal policy was accompanied by a more liberal monetary policy.

"Thus, despite the war in Vietnam," Burns says, "the government acted during much of the year (1967) as if a recession were under way instead of coming to grips with the menacing reality of inflation."

IN HIS ABSORBING book about Hollywood, "The Studio," John G. Dunne tells how the producer of "Dr. Doolittle," Arthur Jacobs, tried to con Joey Bishop into covering the premiere of the film for his TV show: "Admit it, Joey: where else can you get a chimp arriving in a Cadillac wearing white tie and tails?"

A persistent office seeker had been endeavoring unsuccessfully to bribe, bully, or wheedle his way into President Abraham Lincoln's office for weeks, and finally wrote a heart-breaking note to Lincoln begging for an appointment. Lincoln knew the man to be an incompetent bore, and turned down the request with this typically Lincolnian letter: "When I was young, I was pleased to receive an invitation to a dance, and bought a fine new hat for the occasion. I was among the last to leave the dance, and at the cloakroom the attendant handed me a shabby, battered old hat. I told him, 'This isn't my hat, sir. I wore a brand new one.' The attendant replied, 'Mr. Lincoln, the new ones were all gone an hour ago.' The office seeker never bothered Lincoln again."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Are there any new short-cut methods for testing a person for an allergic condition? I have had three series of skin tests and all of them came out differently.

I live on a farm and keep animals. My nose is always stuffed and I am miserable.

Mr. L. S., Iowa
Dear Mr. S.: Yes, a stuffed nose is truly a special kind of misery. Having to breathe through the mouth is bad enough during the day, but at night the dryness it causes interferes with sleep and rest.

One of the major problems in the control of allergies is that a person may be sensitive to one substance or to a combination of them. For example, a man may not be sensitive to cheese and may not be sensitive to ham, but may react to a combination of ham and cheese.

Now, add mustard or another ingredient and you can readily see how difficult it can be to track down the offending substances.

You live on a farm where there are grasses, flowers, trees. Any of these singly or in combination may be the factory in your case. Dander from any of the animals could certainly be a contributing cause.

When these are added to other pollens, fungi, cosmetics, foods, drugs and changes of temperature, we get a better perspective of how difficult these problems are, both for the patient and for the doctor.

Patients react differently to the same types of skin testing if they are done at different times of the year. This, too, may account for the confusion in your case.

Skin testing is probably the most reliable method used by the allergists. There are many new approaches being tried in research laboratories. Only your own specialist in allergy can decide if you are a candidate for some of these newer techniques.

Are you sure you haven't been "doctor hopping," and with understandable impatience, have not given any one physician an opportunity to really follow through on your case?

The anti-histamine, or anti-allergy drugs are effective in many cases of chronic allergic rhinitis (allergy of the nose). One of the frequent mistakes made is to take such a drug only when the symptoms are most severe. This is worthless, because the drug acts by building up in the blood stream, Olympus and a visit with Sam.

The 'Lindsay Finesse'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
Query: How do you know how far to go with a finesse? This is the problem currently agitating supporters of John V. Lindsay in the campaign to get their tiger re-elected Mayor of New York City.

It's really quite a problem, for the arithmetic based on polls shows that Mario Proaccino, the nominee of the organization Democrats, is probably close to a peak which, barring campaign slips or scandal, could approach forty per cent of the November 4 election day total. Since Proaccino, the Democrat and John Marchi, the "other Italian" who will appear on both the Republican and Conservative Party lines, should come close to garnering sixty per cent of the vote between them, the Lindsay finesse involves chiseling off a little of Proaccino's lead strength and, assuming that it is too conservative to go to Lindsay himself on the Liberal Party line, letting it slip to Marchi. If successful, the finesse, which is being artfully cultivated in certain "watch Marchi" news stories, would evenly split the ethnic Italian and the conservative vote, thus permitting Lindsay to win with fewer than a million New Yorkers in his corner.

The danger, of course, is that a swing to Marchi might go too far, too fast. Marchi, both as a Republican and Conservative, is having a hard time keeping up with what former Senatorial candidate James Buckley, who heads the Marchi Conservative Party fund raising drive, refers to as the "liberal money that is flooding into New York to salvage Lindsay's fortunes." But the Lindsay strategy has a weary look: it consists of trying to splice together an alliance of the New Left (the Gene McCarthy and Paul O'Dwyer groups) the old Frank Sinatra Rat Pack, the so-called Beautiful People (rich folks who think it just dandy to devote a little, a very little, of their energy to helping Puerto Ricans and blacks in a patronizing way), and the faded-jaded Arthur Schlesinger - John Galbraith intellectuals who have been pushed out of Washington and back to Manhattan and Cambridge Mass. These people can raise money, but the outer boroughs of New York City are manifestly growing tired of their pretensions.

The Republicans and the Conservatives are attracting their own Big Name heroes: ex-pugilist author Rocky Graziano ("Somebody Up There Likes Me") and Orson Bean, for example, are in Marchi's corner, and even Ed Koch, the ultraliberal Democratic Congressman from John Lindsay's old Seventeenth District, who can't very well vote for a Republican for ideological reasons, has said that Marchi is the "most decent" of the three candidates.

The Conservative Party mail appeal, signed by Jim Buckley, went to 475,000 potential donors and offered membership in the "Retire John Lindsay Club." Since there are very few fat cats on the Conservative lists, the hopes for this appeal are based on a multiplication of the so-called dribs-and-drabs contributions of five, ten and twenty dollars. The Republican Party, with access to richer sources provided they can be pried off the fence, is getting set for a $1 million drive for Marchi, with Nelson Rockefeller's State Racing Commission Chairman, Joseph Gimma, heading it. With professional help, the Republicans and Conservatives hope to creep within financial shouting distance of the Lindsayites. And the professional help is coming, the crack Washington, D.C., publicist organization of Victor Gold Associates, and the Nixon advertising agency, Feeley and Wheeler, will soon be working for Marchi and Juan del Castillo, one of Jeremiah Milbank's big money raisers in the Nixon campaign, will also be in their pitching.

From an abstract arithmetic standpoint the Marchi forces have reason to hope for an astounding victory. Putting together the outer borough or non-Manhattan Republicans, the 200,000 Democrats who voted for Jim Buckley when he was running for Senator on the Conservative line and the Conservative Party adherents, Marchi, on the basis of past campaigns, could pass the million mark. So it is easy to see why some of the Lindsay people are worried lest the finesse of carving a little something away from Proaccino's current lead strength might go a mite too far.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — What do you collect? Stamps? Coins? Old silver? Memories?

Memories are the best of all things to collect. They have several advantages over other possessions that people prize and save.

They never decrease in interest, they can be shared with other people without diminishing their value, and you don't have to put them away in a costly safe-deposit box, as you do diamonds, to protect them from thieves.

Many folks might envy your precious store of memories; none would be so heartless as to wish to steal them from you.

And your album of memories

is pretty extensive if you can look back and remember when

You could write your congressman a penny post card telling him why you didn't think he was worth 2 cents.

About the only people who wore wigs were Shakespearean actors.

You saw more white horses on the street than you did men with beards.

Before the advent of television, critics complained that the quality of programs on the radio had brought American cultural history to a new low.

The most common household tools for bridging the generation gap were the hairbrush and the old-fashioned razor strap, applied locally as required. You could kiss a pretty girl at a church social for a dollar or less — and not feel short-changed.

One of the big thrills of boyhood was getting a job clerking in a grocery store on Saturdays and learning how to perch a pencil on your ear as if you had done it all your life.

Mother always kept enough money in the cookie jar to tide the family over any financial crisis the last two days before payday.

A barbershop quartet could harmonize the strains of "Old Black Joe" without worrying over the possibility they'd incite a race riot.

It was taken for granted that any lad with gumption would be seized with wanderlust and try to run away from home before his 16th birthday.

The slips that girls wore beneath their dresses were at least three times as long as the miniskirts they wear today.

In a large family mother would review at the supper table the sins during the day of each of the kids, and father, after staring sternly in turn at each squirming culprit, would finally lay down his knife and say, "For Pete's sake, can't all this wait until a man finishes eating?"

Film star Marion Davies started to build a $7,500 beach home at Santa Monica in the 1920s, and finally wound up with a $7-million showplace staffed by 32 servants.

You could take an evening stroll in almost any section of a city without fear of being mugged.

Most Americans believed that the world owed them not a living, but simply the chance to make something of themselves. Those were the days! Remember?

Geraldine Chaplin

By BOB THOMAS
AP Television-Movie Writer

LIHUE, Hawaii (AP) — You see the evidence of her father in the eyes, especially when they squint into a smile. But when she speaks, it's certain that Geraldine Chaplin is her own woman.

She is the eldest of the eight children of Charlie Chaplin and Oona O'Neill Chaplin and so far the most famous. As yet her acting fame has been based on her role of Omar Sharif's wife in "Dr. Zhivago," which she did when she was a very inexperienced 21. It showed. She seemed out of her depth amid a cast of skilled performers.

Now she is acting in her second major movie, costarring with Charlton Heston in "The Hawaiians." She plays plantation magnate Heston's wife, actually a composite of about six different island ladies in the James Michener novel, "Hawaii." This time Geraldine Chaplin feels prepared thanks to her experience in European films, most of them bad.

"The first picture I did was 'On a Beautiful Summer Morning,' with Jean Paul Belmondo, and it was pretty awful," she recalled. "Then came 'Zhivago,' which I loved. I thought I would be getting lots of offers for American pictures after that but I didn't."

Next came such dismal films as "I Killed Rasputin," (French), "We Shall Go to the City" (Italian) and "Cop Out" (British). Her last three movies were Spanish-made—"Peppermint Frappe," "Stress," "Home-coming"—and she liked them all. No wonder. They were directed by one of Spain's brightest young directors, Carlos Saura, with whom she shares a Madrid apartment she bought with her "Zhivago" earnings.

Saura and his two young sons are living with Geraldine near the Kauai Island location in handsome house nestled in the crater of an extinct volcano. He is married, but being a Spaniard, the chances of a divorce are virtually nil.

"It doesn't matter to either of us," said Miss Chaplin. "We are perfectly happy the way we are."

The actress' engagement for "The Hawaiians" came quite by surprise, she said.

"The Mirisch company asked me to go to Hollywood and test for the role, so I did," she remarked. "Then they said, 'We'll call you,' and I figured that would be the last I would hear. But then they did call me, and I went back to Hollywood to begin preparing for the picture."

Film workers on "The Hawaiians" didn't know what to expect from the daughter of the famous comedian, who had left America amid much acrimony. They have been delighted to find her relaxed, natural—and perfectly frank.

Man Is Indicted In Triple Slaying; Ohio Girl Dead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A grand jury here indicted Robert Jahmelik, 35, Tuesday in the April 25 execution-style slayings of an Ohio girl and two other persons.

Jahmelik was indicted on a murder charge in the slayings of Margaret Jo Fochtman, 18, of Bay Village, Ohio; Cinda Taylor, 19, of Daly City, Calif., and William J. Oswald Jr., 24, of Concord, Calif.

Their bodies were discovered in a Haight-Ashbury apartment. Detectives Gus Coreris and John Fotinos, who called the slayings the worst they have seen, said robbery and narcotics were involved.

They said they have uncovered new evidence against Jahmelik, who was questioned a few days after the slayings and released. Jahmelik, who wears a gold earring and describes himself as a Morocco-born artist, is serving time in Soledad minimum security prison as a parole violator.

Ghost Town, Ohio Is Tourist Attraction

GHOST TOWN, Ohio (AP) — This town is ready on the state map.

It's not listed among Ohio cities, incorporated or otherwise, but the name is in bright red letters a half-inch south of Findlay, Ohio.

The town is just what the name implies — a collection of abandoned houses and business buildings. The 20 buildings of Ghost Town including a cobbler shop, a barber shop, fire house, newspaper office and a replica of Findlay's first oil derrick, all had a role in the history of northwest Ohio.

The villages' historical atmosphere carries its restoration project up to the 1880s when discovery of rich oil and gas deposits made the area a thriving boom town.

The restoration project was started 10 years ago by Ed Galitz and has become a booming tourist attraction.

The following should serve as a warning to hunters during the upcoming hunting season. Jimmy Dawson, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dawson, was hospitalized Saturday morning after being shot by a careless hunter. Jimmy and his brother Chester were squirrel hunting with their father near Logan when James Marsh Jr. of Columbus, also hunting in the area, fired, peppering the boy with buckshot.

This proves once again that one cannot be too careful when using firearms. One moment of carelessness can result in needless human suffering, hospital bills and numerous trips to the doctor's office, not to mention the anxiety and concern caused to the parents and the anguish and remorse one must surely feel after having committed such an act.

All this could easily have been avoided by using instead, one moment of caution. It could mean the difference between life and death. Mr. Dawson asked that this be included in the news in hopes it may help prevent a future accident for someone. Jimmy will recover, but maybe the next victim will not be so fortunate.

Derby News

Mrs. Georgia Sweet — 869-2462

On Sunday afternoon Miss Lynda Writsel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Writsel of near Orient and Edward E. Conrad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Conrad of near New Holland, were united in marriage in the Derby Methodist Church. Officiating at the open church wedding were Rev. Lillian Wright and Rev. Frank White.

Called to my attention was the recent death of Floyd Neff, 79, of Lilley Chapel. He and Mrs. Neff were well known in this area. Mrs. Neff was the former Ida Yaokum.

Man Is Indicted In Triple Slaying; Ohio Girl Dead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A grand jury here indicted Robert Jahmelik, 35, Tuesday in the April 25 execution-style slayings of an Ohio girl and two other persons.

Jahmelik was indicted on a murder charge in the slayings of Margaret Jo Fochtman, 18, of Bay Village, Ohio; Cinda Taylor, 19, of Daly City, Calif., and William J. Oswald Jr., 24, of Concord, Calif.

Their bodies were discovered in a Haight-Ashbury apartment. Detectives Gus Coreris and John Fotinos, who called the slayings the worst they have seen, said robbery and narcotics were involved.

They said they have uncovered new evidence against Jahmelik, who was questioned a few days after the slayings and released. Jahmelik, who wears a gold earring and describes himself as a Morocco-born artist, is serving time in Soledad minimum security prison as a parole violator.

Ghost Town, Ohio Is Tourist Attraction

GHOST TOWN, Ohio (AP)—This town is ready on the state map.

It's not listed among Ohio cities, incorporated or otherwise, but the name is in bright red letters a half-inch south of Findlay, Ohio.

The town is just what the name implies — a collection of abandoned houses and business buildings. The 20 buildings of Ghost Town including a cobbler shop, a barber shop, fire house, newspaper office and a replica of Findlay's first oil derrick, all had a role in the history of northwest Ohio.

The villages' historical atmosphere carries its restoration project up to the 1880s when discovery of rich oil and gas deposits made the area a thriving boom town.

The restoration project was started 10 years ago by Ed Galitz and has become a booming tourist attraction.

Though it has slipped to second place in population, New York state still holds a lead over California in the number of manufacturing establishments located within its borders. According to Dun's Market Identifiers, a marketing service of Dun & Bradstreet, there are 46,901 manufacturing firms doing business in the Empire State compared with 36,053 in California.

PFC Danny Lee Stires, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stires, Clark's Lake, is serving in Vietnam as a Chaplain's assistant with the eighth transportation group.

On September 7, a birthday dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kerwin Durlinger, Marci Jo and Tommy. The occasion was Marci Jo's eighth birthday. Guests present were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Ridgway, Miss Linda Ridgway, Misses Sara and Hazel Ridgway, Miss Nancy Smith, Don Smith and Mr. and Mrs. William Durlinger and family.

The following should serve as a warning to hunters during the upcoming hunting season. Jimmy Dawson, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dawson, was hospitalized Saturday morning after being shot by a careless hunter. Jimmy and his brother Chester were squirrel hunting with their father near Logan when James Marsh Jr. of Columbus, also hunting in the area, fired, peppering the boy with buckshot.

This proves once again that one cannot be too careful when using firearms. One moment of carelessness can result in needless human suffering, hospital bills and numerous trips to the doctor's office, not to mention the anxiety and concern caused to the parents and the anguish and remorse one must surely feel after having committed such an act.

All this could easily have been avoided by using instead, one moment of caution. It could mean the difference between life and death. Mr. Dawson asked that this be included in the news in hopes it may help prevent a future accident for someone. Jimmy will recover, but maybe the next victim will not be so fortunate.

Miss Marsha Reynolds Bride Of Roger Clark

MR. AND MRS. ROGER L. CLARK

Miss Marsha Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald W. Reynolds of Williamsport and Mr. Roger L. Clark, son of Mrs. Ruby Clark of Williamsport and Mr. Ovid E. Clark of West Jefferson were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony 2:30 p.m., Saturday, August 23 in the Williamsport United Methodist Church.

The Rev. C. Edward Linville performed the ceremony before the altar adorned with flowers and candelabra.

The half hour of pre-nuptial music was presented by Miss Brenda Reid, organist and Mr. James Reynolds, cousin of the bride, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown and train of peau du soie, accented with lace. Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion, was held to a crown of seed pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of chrysanthemums, carnations and roses. Attached to her bouquet was a handkerchief of Irish linen which her grandfather had brought from Ireland during World War I.

Miss Diana Reynolds, the bride's sister, served as maid of honor. Miss Janne Reynolds, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Mrs. Patricia Christman, sister of the groom, was bridesmatron. They were attired in identical gowns of maize crepe. The floor length, empire gowns had full length sleeves and bodices of lace. Their bouquets were cascades of orange glamelas surrounded by chrysanthemums and greenery. They wore floral headpieces of the same flowers as those of their bouquets.

Gene Clark served his brother as best man. Seating the guests were John McCabe, James Starr and Daryl Withrow.

The bride's mother wore an A-line dress of light orchid with matching accessories. The groom's mother wore a two-piece dress of blue with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of white glamelas.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church social rooms. Serving as hostesses were Miss Sharon Hammond, Miss Peg Reiterman, Mrs. Weldon Snyder and Miss Vicki Sykes. Miss Sue Remy presided at the guest book. Mrs. Gary Smith and Mrs. Brad Thompson opened the gifts the couple received at the reception.

The bride's table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake, decorated with yellow roses and a liturgical cross on the top.

The couple is residing in the Red Cross Volunteers Are Needed

Red Cross Volunteers training will be given this month. For there are many jobs to be filled, there are many jobs to be filled. Both men and women are needed for the many services to be done in the community.

The local chapter now serves in a number of ways, such as at Berger Hospital, rest homes, staffs the local blood collection, staffs the office, gives assistance with local disaster service, aids at the Chillicothe VA Hospital, knits for servicemen in Vietnam and drives those who have no transportation to clinics here and in Columbus. There are many services that could be done with more volunteers to serve and take responsibility to organize.

A standard six hour course will be given to all volunteers 9 a.m. Sept. 23 where they will learn about the Red Cross and the service it is to give under its charter from the U.S. Government.

For more information call the Red Cross office at 474-5736, or Mrs. Amelia Garner, volunteer training chairman, 474-6236.

Party Fetes Birthday

Mrs. Mary Leonard was honored Sunday when Mr. and Mrs. McCellan Clark, 410 Fay Ave. entertained in observance of the 74th birthday of Mrs. Clark's sister.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gaa and granddaughter, Cindy Dearth; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holcomb, Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pritchard, 440 Ray Ave.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Mrs. D. Wright Honored With Baby Shower

Mrs. Denzil Wright, the former Lois Atwood, was honored Friday with a baby shower in the home of Mrs. Paul Atwood, Route 3.

Game prizes were won by Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Phyllis Hudak, Mrs. Linda Anderson and Mrs. Oscar Atwood. All prizes, relating to the shower theme, were presented to the guest of honor.

Refreshments of cake, nuts and lemonade were served by the hostess.

Attending from Circleville were Miss Mary Atwood and Mrs. Clem Atwood; from Williamsport, Mrs. Linda Anderson, Mrs. Phyllis Hudak, Mrs. Oscar Atwood and Mrs. Robert Smith; from Chillicothe, Mrs. Robert L. Atwood Sr. and Becky.

Sending gifts were Mrs. Gary Adams, Chillicothe; Mrs. Wayne Atwood, Williamsport; Mrs. Roger McKnight, Columbus and Mrs. Florence Wright, Williamsport.

A dessert course was served by Mrs. Rihl at the close of the evening.

Eeeny. Meeny. Mini. Maxi.
Which to wear to catch a taxi?

That's the problem facing American girls today.

After years of inching hemlines up to perilously high levels, fashion designers did a turnabout this year, dropping clothes—particularly coats—to the floor and telling girls to take their choice.

Will the American woman buy the switch? A survey of stores in several large cities indicates the answer is a cautious "yes."

In San Francisco, Ann Capworth, assistant buyer for I. Magnin, said, "We're stocking maxi coats increasingly, but not so many maxi skirts. Style trends are always a little late in reaching the West Coast. We're still stocking and selling mini-skirts, but our sales people are being instructed to call maxi to customers' attention."

A spokesman for Neiman-Marcus in Dallas said, "Last year we had a very small number of maxi coats, but this year there is a large number of maxi fashions in all apparel departments. The trend started with the fall clothes."

Despite their popularity, the spokesman said, "the maxi fashions have had no effect on the minis. Many wear their mini-skirts under their maxi coats."

The junior coat buyer for Chas. A. Stevens, a Chicago store, said she couldn't get enough maxicoats. She said the coats were selling in everything — "including bonded tissue paper."

A spokesman for Bonwit Teller in New York City said the coats had a "fantastic selling record" in the junior and Miss Bonwit departments, with prices ranging from $70 to $300. "It's hot," she said of the long coat. "There are no ifs, ands or buts about it." She said the maxi was "as hot in branch stores as in New York."

Skirts, said the Bonwit spokesman, generally are most popular at about four inches above the knee. There are few maxi skirts for day.

Montgomery Ward, with sales throughout the country, reported buyers showed preferences for short skirts, topped by maxi or midi coats.

A spokesman said there was "good action" in maxi coats. "They're moving in all our major markets, particularly in rain and all-weather styles," she said. "Young people are buying them like crazy."

Penn State's basketball team will have senior Phil Nichols at center next season. He is 6-foot-9. Bob Fittin, a sophomore from Elmhurst, Ill., adds height to the team. He is 6-8.

LOSE 10 LBS. IN 10 DAYS ON NEW GRAPEFRUIT DIET

This is the revolutionary new grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Literally thousands upon thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants, and offices throughout the U.S. and Canada. Word of its success has spread like wildfire, because this is the one diet that really seems to work for most overweight people. A well known Toronto columnist recently praised it to the skies. He reported losing 20 pounds quickly down to his wartime weight of 165 pounds. All this without cutting out the occasional beer. If it is followed exactly, the average overweight person should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. There will be no weight loss the first four days. But you will suddenly drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter you will lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1 1/2 pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all, there should be no hunger pangs. Now revised and enlarged, this new diet lets you stuff yourself with foods that were formerly "forbidden." Such as big steaks trimmed with fat, fried chicken, rich gravies, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon, fats, sausages and scrambled eggs. You can eat until you are full, until you cannot possibly eat any more. And still you should lose 10 pounds in the first 10 days, plus 1 1/2 pounds every two days thereafter until your weight is down to normal. The secret behind this new "Quick weight loss" is not generally known. Fat, it has been theorized, does not form fat. Perhaps fat fights fat. And the grapefruit juice in this new diet might act as a catalyst (the trigger) to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted food list in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids. When the fat and bloat are gone you will cease to lose weight and your weight will remain controlled. A copy of this new and startling successful diet plan can be obtained by sending $2.00 to

GULF CO.
P.O. Box 524
Lincoln, Nebraska 68501

Unconditional money back guarantee. If after trying the diet plan you have not lost 7 pounds in the first 7 days, and another 6 pounds in the next 7 days, and 1 1/2 pounds every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $2.00 will be refunded promptly and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to regain the trim attractive figure of your youth, while still enjoying hearty breakfasts, lunches and dinners. Order now before others snap up the limited supply.

Slum Lawyer Fights Hard For His Clients

By JOHN S. LANG
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Weiss, the philosopher, grins about the Hell's Kitchen hustler who gave her teen-age daughter territorial rights to two blocks of 51st Street. It was a birthday present.

He shrugs over the strange little man who lived in the same apartment with his wife and her lower two months before deciding his five children needed better care.

Jonathan Weiss, the lawyer, has to.

He defends them, for free. And he believes with a fervor he does it better than the few attorneys in private practice in New York's lower West Side slums.

Weiss is what's called a poor people's lawyer, one of 2,000 across the land under contract with the Office of Economic Opportunity to provide the indigent with the same legal help a moneyed man can buy.

About 100 of these poor people's lawyers, attending a conference last month in Vail, Colo., sent a 15-page telegram to OEO officials complaining their integrity and independence were not being protected by the Nixon administration. They also demanded immediate funds for several controversial projects.

Weiss, a lecturer at the conference, didn't sign the telegram. The protest, he said, was an "exercise in triviality."

Weiss's shingle hangs in Hell's Kitchen where it stinks when it rains and smells worse when the sun shines strong, where the people—the pimps, the dead-beats and the crazies—wear the cologne of poverty, Lava soap and sweat.

The people, his clients, don't stink to Johnny Weiss. He's got a credo:

"The other guy smells worse. No matter how bad my guy is, the other guys are worse. You gotta know that, the other guys are the bastards."

Bastards, to Weiss, are the slum landlords and the brutal cops and the institutional men, like in the Welfare Department, who make decisions and rules without regard for individual suffering.

Bastards. That's a milder word of Weiss. His speech is pimpled with epithets and vulgarisms.

He refers often and lovingly to his father, Dr. Paul Weiss, one of America's most honored philosophers now on the faculty at Catholic University in Washington, as a "hot ----."

Jonathan Weiss is a Yale man cum laude, a Fulbright scholar, a member of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders, sometime guest lecturer in law and philosophy and political science, an author and a television panelist. And he talks dirty.

It's shocking, at first. But hear the other lawyers in his office at 759 10th Ave., listen to the young activists in federal agencies and congressional offices in Washington, those committed to the new politics of youth, of battling poverty and racism.

Their speech is like that. Tough cult stuff. Partly it relates to the people they want to help, partly it is to avoid thinking of themselves as soft-hearted.

Weiss doesn't look tough at 5-foot-5 and 123 pounds, including the big brogans on his size seven feet and the thick glasses that keep skidding to the end of his small round nose. But that's deceptive. Weiss very likely has more cases on appeal in federal courts and on the way to the Supreme Court than any other lawyer.

He admits this, then orders, "Don't quote me. Arrogant though I am, I hate to sound it."

Divorce, child custody, delinquency, these are the scraps of law practice, the work most lawyers dread like the bar exam. They are Weiss's specialties.

Yet there is talk within the OEO of gradually shifting the focus of legal services from a case-by-case approach to undertakings that would affect greater numbers of the poor, such as suits against government agencies failing to provide adequate services.

"Crap," says Weiss. "What's a little case? You don't know what is a little case until you go into it."

"Secondly, what right have you to tell a client, 'You don't have a socially redeeming case and we won't take you.'"

One of these cases which Weiss took is now a landmark in social law. In it, the residency case, the Supreme Court ruled that a person need not have lived in a state for a year to get welfare.

But a week before the decision, the New York Legislature passed a law withholding such payments on the presumption that those applying within a year after entering the state had come for the purpose of getting welfare.

On a Wednesday, Weiss is before a three-judge federal panel in Albany arguing this new state law is unconstitutional. Pending

On a Thursday, Weiss is in a Brooklyn court acting for a man who wants his five children taken away from his wife. The woman, a narcotics addict, is living with another man. But Weiss is sickened by his own part in the suit.

"It's disgraceful," he gripes. "I don't even think child neglect cases are constitutional. What right have they to intrude on the family? Moral grounds. The privacy of personal morals are protected by the Constitution."

But the husband enters Weiss's office asking help. He's got no money and he wants a lawyer. That's what Weiss is there for. He takes the case and he wins it. The children are placed in a juvenile detention center.

On a Friday, Weiss is in Manhattan Family Court, again representing the husband. Before losing the children, the wife had filed for support. Weiss's defense is the obvious: why pay her when the other man is living with her?

Family Court waiting room at 9:20 a.m. is unreal despite the solid trappings of government.

It is a series of uncomfortable impressions: signs warning not to spit or smoke, the steady squish of cheap shoes on marble floors, quick sour whiffs of nervously digested breakfasts. One hundred and two pairs of eyes stare rapidly at the uniformed man who dully calls the next case.

On a slipperv bench among the people is Weiss's client, a Puerto Rican immigrant who speaks no English; a small, thin, dark man wearing a shiny brown suit so baggy his knees and those of three other men would rattle the trouser sides like bell clappers.

Weiss is late, by 30 minutes, but he knows it makes no difference. He's got no clout in this court and he'll be lucky to get his case before the judge before

apolo 12 Astronauts Busy Practicing Walking On Moon

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Apollo 12 astronauts are setting some "lunar" records in simulation as they practice walking, sample gathering and scientific experiments in moon-like gravity.

Just in case they need it, they also are practicing how to fall and how to get up from a fall.

Astronauts Pete Conrad and Al Bean have logged a total of 85 minutes in one-sixth gravity during training flights in a KC-135 plane off the coast of Cape Kennedy, Fla.

The plane and crew is assigned to Wright-Patterson Air Force Base here.

During recent training flights the astronauts flew a total of 159 parabolic maneuvers that produces gravity equal to that found on the moon.

Such gravity is simulated by the plane diving from 26,000 feet to 24,000 feet, pulling up to 34,000 feet, and into an arc back to 24,000 feet.

The plane then returns to 26,000 feet and repeats the maneuver.

The parabolic curve for "lunar G" is slightly flattened out at the top to give the one-sixth gravity effect.

During the training, Conrad went through 58 such maneuvers and Bean set a record with 101 such maneuvers during a three hour, 20 minute flight.

Bean accumulated about 55 minutes of conditions simulating gravity on the moon surface.

During that time he practiced walking, tumbling, falling and getting back on his feet, going up and down a lunar module ladder and handling the lunar sample boxes.

Insurance Firm Named In Suit

CINCINNATI (AP) — A New York woman and fellow shareholders are seeking $41.2 million in damages against the Ohio Casualty Insurance Co. of Hamilton, Ohio, and the American Financial Corp., Cincinnati, in a dispute over sale of Ohio Casualty stock.

The suit was filed in behalf of Sylvia Martin and 2,500 other shareholders Monday in U.S. District Court.

It asked for the multi-million dollar judgment, including $191,250 for Mrs. Martin herself.

Money Is Missing At Courts Building

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Police have disclosed the theft of $4,002 in cash and checks from the Police and Court Building. The money was taken from an unlocked safe in the Violation Bureau office about 20 feet from the desk sergeant's station.

MORE BRITISH TROOPS CALLED INTO BELFAST—Armed British troops man a barbed wire barricade separating Catholic and Protestant sections in Belfast, Northern Ireland, as the British army summons 500 reinforcements to bolster its troops working 16-hour shifts to keep peace between the feuding religious factions. Burglars Ransack Police Chief's Home

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Burglars pried open a window and ransacked the home of Police Chief Ray Blackmore, making off with a $2,000 stereo phonograph, two television sets and $20 in cash.

It was the fourth house on Blackmore's block to be broken into in six weeks. Blackmore was at work and his wife was out when the daylight burglary occurred.

As it happens, it is 1 p.m. when Weiss and his client leave the court. They have won, and the husband pays no support.

"That's my life," says Weiss. "I'm in court every morning waiting to argue my cases, wasting time. It's a shame. In the afternoons I interview new clients."

'Treat' Or Treatment

DEAR ABBY: Our 19-year-old daughter has been seeing a psychotherapist about some problems. This is perfectly all right with us, but his mode or "therapy" has us worried. Our daughter tells us that after each session he takes her in his arms, holds her close and kisses her tenderly. He says this is the new "sensitivity" therapy. Have you ever heard of anything like this?

WORRIED MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Before jumping to any hasty conclusions, you must remember that your daughter is in "therapy" and could be indulging in fantasy, exaggeration or wishful thinking. However, "sensitivity" therapy is a new approach, as opposed to the former rigid "hands off" relationship between patient and psychotherapist. Some patients need a friendly touch or a reassuring pat. But no reputable therapist I've ever heard of will "tenderly kiss" a patient as part of the therapy. You have every right to confer with your daughter's therapist and find out if HE'S giving her a "treat" instead of a TREATMENT.

DEAR ABBY: I have a prominent nose, but it is a family trait. In fact we call it a "SCHWARTZ" nose. Every now and then some rude person will ask, "Why don't you have your nose fixed?"

I don't think I need it, but how should I answer?

J. SCHWARTZ
DEAR J. SCHWARTZ: Say, "Why should I have my nose fixed? It runs all right."

DEAR ABBY: We hear so much these days about people not wishing to get "involved," I want to tell you a true story.

My husband and I were driving on University boulevard in Maryland. It was 2 p.m. and the temperature was in the 90's — and no shade. Our car blew a tire and the nearest phone was half-a-mile away.

While we waited for the service we had called this is what happened: A teen-aged boy and girl offered to make a call at a friend's home nearby. A lady returning home with groceries took us to her home to check on the first phone call. She sent me back to our car with a pitcher of ice water for my husband. Her two teen-aged daughters stayed with us until our car was fixed.

Two young men from Maryland's School Department stopped, offering to change our tire.

Another man in a small service truck, going in the opposite direction, turned around and asked if he could help us.

Two Maryland police cars stopped and offered help. A third one stopped and offered help. Two buses stopped offering to drop us off at a service station. FOURTEEN Good Samaritans in one hour and fifteen minutes! The world must be spinning in the right groove.

Sincerely,
MRS. E. P. B.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HEARTBROKEN PARENT" IN SAN DIEGO: Take it from Jake Ehrich, one of the most brilliant and colorful trial lawyers of our time. He said (in his book, "A LIFE IN MY HANDS") "This may sound dated, but I'm convinced that if more fathers read to their young today there'd be fewer fathers talking to themselves on the way out of the visiting room at the Juvenile Hall."

Federal War On Narcotics Outlined For Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's proposed tactics in its stepped-up war on narcotics—including the legalizing of "no knock" drug raids—was given to Congress Monday by Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell. Mitchell's proposals for new legislation include a total ban on the manufacture, distribution and sale of marijuana, LSD and heroin, drugs he said have no recognized medical use.

Mitchell's testimony followed the Justice Department disclosure over the weekend of an all-out effort to stop the flow of illegal drugs from Mexico.

Mitchell told the Senate's juvenile delinquency subcommittee, prison is not necessarily the logical penalty for all convicted of using or dealing in illegal drugs.

He proposed laws which differentiate clearly between criminal elements distributing dangerous drugs, drug addicts and the increasing number of young people experimenting in the drug scene on a casual basis.

"I cannot overestimate to you the threat that narcotics and dangerous drugs pose to the mental and physical health of the nation—especially to our young people . . .," Mitchell said.

He called enactment of the administration drug bill which would use the power to control interstate commerce to put the squeeze on illegal drug traffic.

Among other things it would set up a sliding scale of drug control with heroin, marijuana and LSD banned and other drugs limited to purely medical use.

The administration bill also

Judge Corrigan Is Sworn In

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Judge J. J. P. Corrigan of Cleveland became Ohio's 126th justice of the Ohio Supreme Court Tuesday when he was administered the oath of office here by Chief Justice Kingsley Taft.

The ceremony, in the court chambers, also marked the opening of the court's fall term.

The 68-year-old Corrigan, who has been a judge of the appellate court in Cleveland, serving his second term, was named to the state's high court by Gov. James A. Rhodes last week.

He replaces the late Judge Charles B. Zimmerman of Springfield.

would allow agents of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics "to enter places where drugs are illegally sold or stored without knocking, but only when given advance authority by a magistrate," Mitcheell said.

"All too frequently," he said, "violators are able to destroy contraband drugs while officers executing a search warrant are going through the presently required process of knocking and announcing their authority and purpose."

John E. Ingersoll, director of the Narcotics Bureau, testified 162,177 persons—of whom more than 43,000 were under the age of 18—were arrested by state and local police for narcotic and marijuana violations in 1968. He said this represented a 322 per cent increase since 1960.

"There is little doubt that addiction and drug abuse have reached epidemic proportions over the last several years," Ingersoll said.

The government hopes to stem the increasing flow of illegal drugs and narcotics from Mexico with stiffer border inspection, specially equipped airplanes and closer cooperation with the Mexican government.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — There is nothing dreadfully wrong with NBC's new "Debbie Reynolds Show" except that we have seen it all before when the comedy reins were held tightly by an expert. Miss Reynolds, sad to report, has chosen to make her television debut in a series that is a faint carbon of "I Love Lucy."

Instead of old Fred and Ethel, Debbie has her sister Charlotte and husband. They wrangle a lot. Instead of Rickey, Debbie has a tall, handsome sportswriter husband. Debbie yearns to get a newspaper job, which is the excuse for the broad comedy and mugging.

In the first episode Tuesday, Debbie, learned that the governor was going to play golf locally and her scheme was to find out his political plans by disguising herself as his caddy. You can imagine the hilarity when Debbie was caught in her facial disguise—mustache and sideburns—while still wearing a pink chiffon peignoir around the house. Then, of course, were the mad sequences when she was caddyding and did not know a driver from a spoon. Debbie Reynolds is a talented and hard-working actress, but Lucille Ball she is not.

Debbie's premiere show was followed by the return of "Julia" for its second season. Diana Carroll's show arrived with a new character, Dr. Chegley's 92-year-old uncle who is filling in during Julia's boss' vacation. The senior Dr. Chegley—Lloyd Nolan in a white wig—added a slapstick note to the series. Back at Julia's apartment, there were the same appealing children and, in a subplot, a little lesson in human relations.

"The Dionne Warwick Special... Souled Out," to be broadcast tonight on CBS, is a colorful, tuneful hour that will brighten the living room screens.

The hour, seen in a preview, compressed a lot of interesting music in a wide range of moods and styles. Miss Warwick is most effective, singing numbers that range from "Alfie" to religious music. Glen Campbell adds his easy manner and pleasant singing style.

The star not only sang but danced like a pro in some impressive production numbers and is almost as funny as guest star George Kirby. The hour closes with a medley, mostly of Burt Bacharach songs, as the composer accompanies Miss Warwick and Campbell.

Also recommended tonight: "The Courtship of Eddie's Father," ABC, premiere, 8-8:30 EDT, situation comedy starring Bill Bixby as a widower with a young son; "Room 222," ABC, premiere, 8:30-9, comedy about a history teacher in an integrated school; "Then Came Bronson."

Dayton Deaths Low

CHICAGO (AP)—The national Safety Council reported Tuesday that Dayton, Ohio, had the lowest traffic death rate in June of any U.S. city in the 200,000-350,000 population class. The city had 1.4 deaths for each 10,000 registered vehicles.

School Issues Fare Badly In Special Ohio Elections

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

School issues fared badly Tuesday in special elections held around the state.

The most resounding defeat came in Columbus where a proposed $63.8 million bond issue went down 41,491 to 17,187, a margin of more than 2 to 1. The issue had been one of controversy and several groups, including the Columbus Jaycees actively opposed it.

School Supt. Dr. Harold H. Eibling said the defeat will cost valuable time in meeting the current problem of overcrowding. The money was to have provided 31 new schools in the city.

"It will take several years to recover from this interruption and it undoubtedly will require additional millions of dollars," Eibling said.

Voters in the Mifflin Local School District near Columbus defeated a $1 million construction bond issue 724-327 and an 8.5 mill additional operating levy for the Newark city schools went down 5,065-2,568.

Things went better in suburban Cincinnati, where voters in the St. Bernard-Elmwood Place district passed a $1.1 million bond issue which was defeated in a special election last May.

The issue, approved 1,487 - 919, will be used to build a gymnasium for the high school.

In non-school elections, former councilman Earl Martin defeated Rocky River Mayor Donald R. Patton 3,760-1,829 in the Republican primary. Martin will take office Jan. 1 as no Democrats filed for mayor. Patton was elected mayor two years ago.

In nonpartisan primary balloting in Wickliffe, councilmen Nicholas Dimberio and John Yanesh finished 1-2 in a three-man race for mayor and will oppose each other in the November general election. Dimberio received 1,336 votes, Yanesh 1,257 and former tax collector Duncan Stevens 599.

Student Solves His Housing Problem; Lives In Woods

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — David Hoover is one University of Michigan student who's not worried about the campus housing shortage.

He's planning to camp out in the woods near Ann Arbor all winter.

The 18-year-old freshman told university housing officials he finds "more security in the woods than in an apartment," adding, "I really like to live with the weather."

Hoover, a lean 5-foot-10, has four tents with an overhead tarpaulin connecting them. The tents are clustered around a fire pit. He may experiment with various types of mechanical heaters when the winter snows arrive.

In anticipation of a blustery winter, he brought snowshoes with him.

Hoover's campsite, set up last week, is in a dense woods a quarter of a mile from the nearest point to which a car or bicycle can drive.

"I just hope a lot of other students don't get the idea," said Hoover, whose father is an Illinois assistant attorney general. "People would say I was starting a new kind of hippie movement."

The Taylorville, Ill., youth who wants to do professional conservation work rides a bicycle round trip each day between his campsite and the central campus—a 20-mile jaunt.

He rejected several offers of potential campsites nearer to his classes. "This feels like home," he said. "I don't believe the cold could drive me in. I'll move into town if I think my grades are suffering."

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thundershowers washed a wide stretch of the nation from the southwest to the eastern Great Lakes today and also dampened parts of the Pacific northwest and the southeast.

Heavy rain hit portions of Texas. College Station was soaked by more than 3½ inches during the night. Hail, 50-mile-an-hour winds and an inch of rain lashed Rochelle, Tex., east of San Angelo.

The normally arid southwest also had occasional downpours. More than 1¼ inches of rain watered Phoenix, Ariz., before daybreak.

Mild weather continued through most of the East and across the South, but cooler air centered in the northern plains dropped the mercury into the 40s and occasional 30s in the Dakotas and Minnesota.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 35 at international Falls, Minn., and Grand Forks, N.D., to 83 at Corpus Christi, Tex., and Key West, Fla.

Area Students Rank Among Semifinalists

Four area high school seniors have been named as semifinalists in the National Merit Qualifying Test.

Richard Maurer and Dona Straley, Westfall; Beth Spires, Circleville and Neil Fosnaugh of Teays Valley were among the highest scorers on the qualifying test given last February. They rank among the 15,000 students nationwide competing for finalist ranks and one of the 1,000 National Merit $1,000 scholarships.

High school grades, accomplishments, leadership qualities, extracurricular achievements and scores on a second qualifying exam are evaluated to determine a student's finalist standing. Finalists and semifinalists both are eligible for scholarship loans and grants from accredited colleges and universities throughout the nation.

Tract Is Purchased For Neil's Museum

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Historical Society is buying a 15-acre tract for the Neil Armstrong Museum site on Interstate 75 just southeast of here.

A Wapakoneta firm, Peterson Construction Co., donated money for the $45,000 purchase. The museum, honoring Neil Armstrong, the first man to step on the moon, is expected to cost $1 million.

HHH Heads Demo Policy Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee's new policy council is finally ready for business—and it may provide Hubert H. Humphrey with a platform from which to challenge President Nixon's performance.

Humphrey, the party's 1968 defeated presidential nominee and a possible candidate again in 1972, is chairman of the panel assigned to keep vigil on the Republicans.

Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, the party chairman and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the 1968 nominee for vice president, are vice chairmen of the Democratic policy council, which has been some eight months in the making.

Muskie and even Harris are considered possible 1972 candidates for the Democratic presidential nod.

Harris announced the council's makeup on the eve of a conference of Democratic state chairmen today, and a meeting of the national committee Thursday.

He appointed 20 Democrats, among them three governors, three senators, three members of the House and two big-city mayors, to the council executive committee.

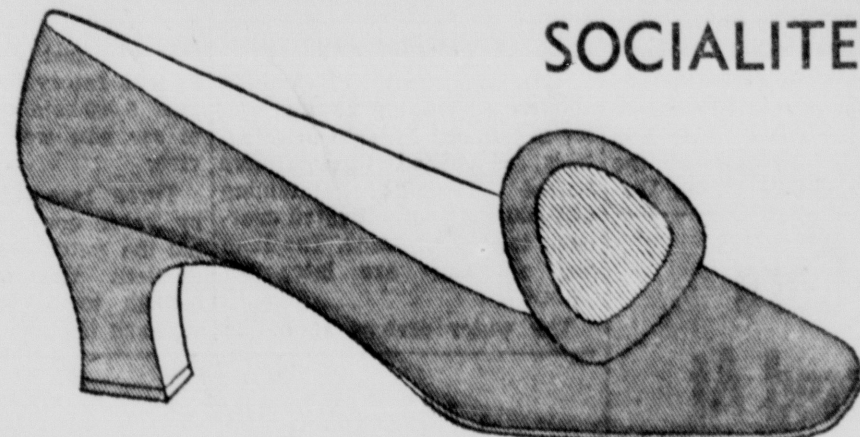

Harris said 30 prominent Democrats later would be named members at large and six committees which deal with policy and issues in major areas.

Harris hopes liaison, and general agreement on the issues, would avoid the problem faced by a similar group during the Republican Eisenhower administration when Democratic congressional leaders regarded the council as an intruder.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, the Democratic leader, said he would be glad to work with the new council. "We just have to make up our own minds here, and do what we think is best, because we vote."

Unique Lake Uses Treated Sewage Water For Trout

MARKLEEVILLE, Calif. (AP) — A unique lake teeming with rainbow trout on the eastern slope of the Sierra near here is filled with a billion gallons of treated sewage water and authorities say it's pure enough to drink.

Called Indian Creek Reservoir, the man-made lake is fed by a 22-inch pipeline snaking over a 7,000 foot mountain pass from a sewage plant at South Lake Tahoe, 14 miles north.

"The plant is the only one of its kind in the world," says Bob Wakeman, a director of the South Tahoe Public Utility District, serving an area with about 15,000 residents. "The water it produces meets U.S. public health service drinking water standards."

The growth of resort and year-round communities at Tahoe has caused pollution, silt and algae to mar Lake Tahoe's natural beauty, Wakeman says. The $3 million plant and 14-mile pipeline were built to help reverse the trend.

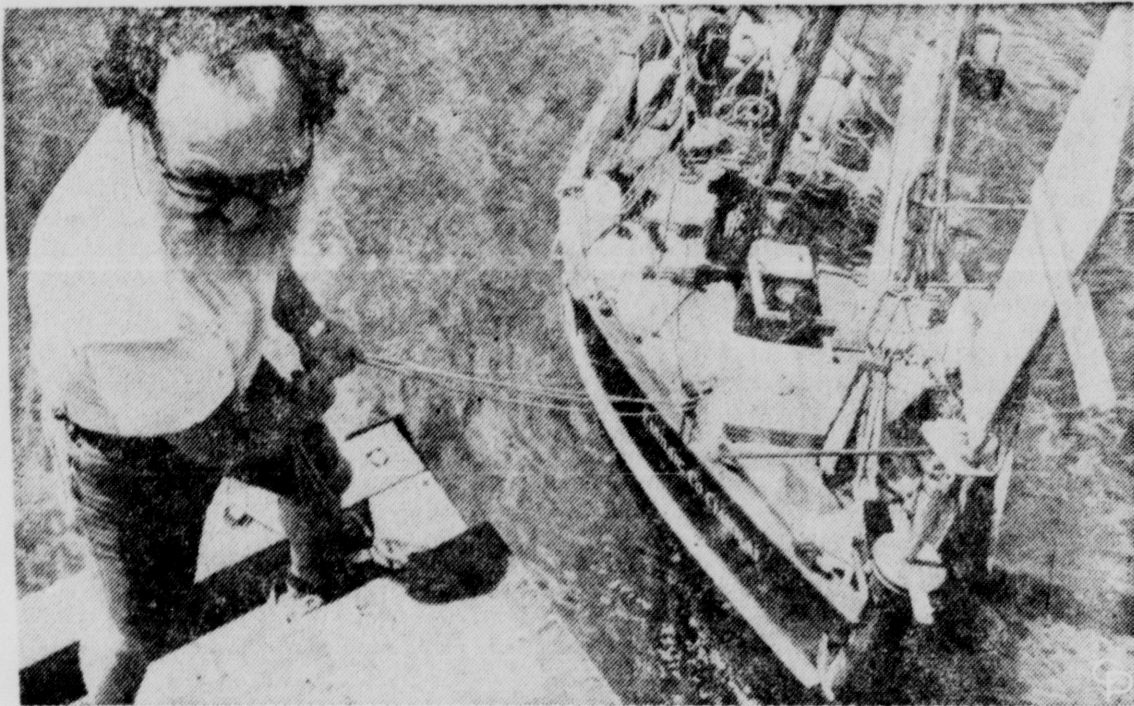

After treatment with lime to remove solids, the sewage water is pumped through filtration beds, channeled through five 30-foot columns containing $150,000 worth of activated charcoal, then chlorinated. The lime and charcoal are later reclaimed.

The water arrives at Indian Creek Reservoir colorless, odorless, tasteless and stripped of harmful waste.

"Everyone asks us why we don't pump the water back into Tahoe and save some money," says Wakeman. "The answer is we could and probably no one would know the difference, but the project is still experimental and its results must be tested thoroughly."

In one test shortly after the 27-acre reservoir opened in August, 8,000 rainbow were planted to see how well they will survive.

Three researchers sponsored by Tahoe conservationists sample the water weekly. One commented: "The water is pure enough to drink, if you can stomach the idea."

"DAMN GLAD TO BE BACK"—Seeking to prove that monks could have beat Columbus to the new world by many centuries, William Verity of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., arrives at San Salvador, Bahamas, after sailing his crude, homemade replica of a 6th century sailing boat from Ireland. En route boiling seas twice smashed his rudder, and he was forced to beg food from passing ships. Said he, "I'm damn glad to be back."

DP&L, Coal Company Sign Big Contract

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Dayton Power and Light Co. and North American Coal Co. announced the signing of a $100 million contract Tuesday to provide a major portion of the coal needed at the J. M. Stuart generating station under construction at Aberdeen in Brown County.

North American will provide about one million tons of coal a year for 20 years starting in 1972. The coal will be mined in Belmont County near Whitman Point.

Lawn Care Discussed At Hannan Council

Lawn Care was discussed by Pickaway County Agricultural Extension Agent George Hamrick at the Lecturer's meeting of Hannan Council Knights of Columbus.

The Session was held Monday evening in the council rooms on South Pickaway Street. Lecturer John Vendilinski introduced Hamrick, who illustrated his lecture with slides identifying unwelcome species of plant life frequently found in lawns. Methods of control of plant growth, insects, and diseases common to lawns were discussed and good practices of lawn care were cited.

Grand Knight Roger McConnell conducted a business session and made the presentation of awards for the evening. Victor Riffle, who serves the council as outside guard, was honored as knight of the month for his outstanding efforts in behalf of the council. McConnell also presented past grand knight plaques to Dallas Elliott Jr., immediate past grand knight, and to Stanley Stevens, former grand knight who is now serving as district deputy for the Knights of Columbus of Ohio.

James Butler, council activities chairman, announced that reservations for a family pot-luck picnic should be turned in as soon as possible. The event is scheduled for Sunday at Ted Lewis Park. Dinner will be served at shelter number three at 1:30 and will be followed by an afternoon of games and contests. Prospective members are to be guests of members at the affair.

Plan More Atom Tests

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission, pleased with the success of a near-megaton underground blast, pushed plans today for even more powerful weapons tests in Nevada and Alaska.

Robert Miller, the AEC's Nevada operations manager, termed "very successful" the detonation Tuesday on Pahuet Mesa, 110 miles north of Las Vegas, of a nuclear device that shook several western states and made tall buildings sway as far away as Salt Lake City, 340 miles northeast.

The $3 million test, which Miller said was "very important to national security," had an explosive yield officially described as somewhat less than a megaton. A megaton is the equivalent of a million tons of TNT.

Unofficial sources estimated the force at about 800,000 tons and linked the blast with development of a warhead for an anti-missile system.

An AEC spokesman said a one-megaton shot is scheduled at Amchitka, in the Aleutian Islands off Alaska, next month. If that area proves safe, he said, tests of several megatons will be conducted there in the future.

CBMC To Plan Fall Events At Meeting

The Christian Business Men's Committee will meet 6:45 a.m. Saturday at Noel's Restaurant, Lancaster Pike.

All members, former members, laymen and other interested persons should attend for the fall planning of events.

John Magill will give a report on the U.S. Congress on Evangelism held at Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 8-13.

The $3 million test, which Miller said was "very important to national security," had an explosive yield officially described as somewhat less than a megaton. A megaton is the equivalent of a million tons of TNT.

Unofficial sources estimated the force at about 800,000 tons and linked the blast with development of a warhead for an anti-missile system.

An AEC spokesman said a one-megaton shot is scheduled at Amchitka, in the Aleutian Islands off Alaska, next month. If that area proves safe, he said, tests of several megatons will be conducted there in the future.

CBMC To Plan Fall Events At Meeting

The Christian Business Men's Committee will meet 6:45 a.m. Saturday at Noel's Restaurant, Lancaster Pike.

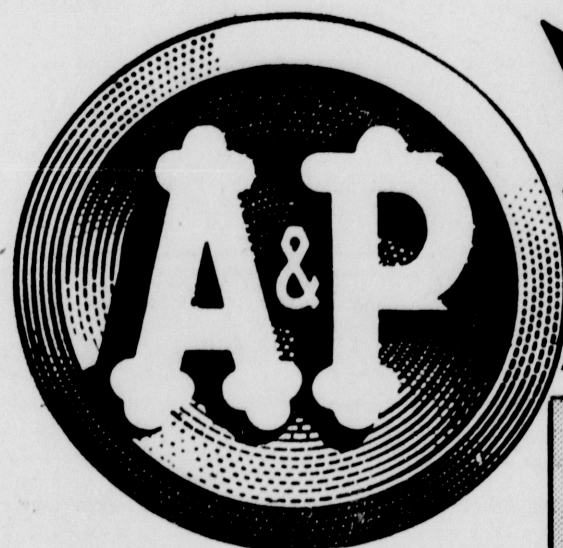

All members, former members, laymen and other interested persons should attend for the fall planning of events.

John Magill will give a report on the U.S. Congress on Evangelism held at Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 8-13.

Lifelong Circleville Resident Nears End Of LAFB Career

KEEPING CURRENT — Art Stein, a Circleville man who has worked at Lockbourne AFB nearly 28 years, reads a current issue of The Skyhawk, the base newspaper. Stein plans to retire sometime after Jan. 1.

If there is one person at Lockbourne AFB who has seen the base evolve from a small glider school in 1942 to its current size, it has to be Arthur Stein, 66, of 118 Pleasant St. in Circleville. Stein began his uninterrupted Lockbourne career as one of the two original operators of the water plant in 1942. "As far as I know, I've worked here longer than anyone," Stein says. During the remaining war years, the base became a training area for B-17s. After the war, when Lockbourne was an all-Negro unit, Stein's work load decreased until the base closed in 1949. But a little thing like a base shutdown didn't stop Stein. He was one of 16 civilian workers who remained on the job as custodial personnel.

How The Weather Looks

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

After about a week of dry weather, rain moved into northern Ohio from the west Tuesday.

The heaviest amounts were in the extreme northern sections and Cleveland reported nearly 1.5 inches shortly before daybreak this morning.

The rain is associated with a cold front that moved across Lake Erie late Tuesday night. The front will continue south-eastward across Ohio today and this evening and beyond the Ohio River tonight. Showers are expected to develop in southern Ohio today ahead of the front and end tonight as the cool air moves southward.

Lows tonight will be mostly in the 50s.

A high pressure system located north of the Dakotas this morning will be moving eastward across the northern Great Lakes area tonight and Thursday, bringing cool and dry air into the Ohio Valley. Fair weather is expected to the end of the 70s.

Highs Thursday are expected from the middle 60s to the low-70s.

The outlook for Friday is cool in the morning but warming a bit with sunny skies in the afternoon.

FORECASTS

OHIO—Partial clearing north and showers ending south tonight and cooler. Lows mostly low 60s extreme south Thursday fair and cool.

In the 50s north ranging to the northwest, northeast Ohio—Cloudy and cooler with rain ending tonight. Lows mostly in the 50s. Thursday clearing and cool. Highs 65-70.

SOUTHWEST, CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL OHIO—Showers ending during tonight and cooler. Lows from the upper 50s to low 60s. Thursday partly cloudy and cool. Highs in the upper 60s and lower 70s.

SOUTHEAST OHIO — Scattered showers tonight. Lows in the lower 60s. Thursday partly cloudy and cooler.

Good Samaritan Dies In Crash

HARTFORD, Vt. (AP) — Three days after he rescued two boys in a flaming auto crash in which four others died, Bernard Hamel, 21, of Concord, N.H., was killed in the crash of his car. A highway department crew, attracted by a broken guardrail found Hamel's body and that of Darlene Merchant, 21, of White River Junction, in Hamel's wrecked car Tuesday. Hamel was a construction worker employed in Vermont. Last Saturday, at Bow, N.H., near Concord, Hamel came along just as two cars collided head on and burst into flames. He pulled the two boys from the wreckage of one of the cars.

Fear Wave Of French Strikes

PARIS (AP) — Big and thick like a heavyweight boxer, the leader of the Communist group in the French National Assembly leaned forward on the balls of feet, the heels of his hands on the rostrum. His head thrust forward, Robert Ballanger said with obvious satisfaction to the hostile Gaullist majority on the violet velvet benches before him: "The disastrous situation in which we now find ourselves, you say, is the result of international circumstances." "You ask us for sacrifices," he raised his hands in mock surprise. "This is a far cry from the arrogant speeches to which we became accustomed during more than 10 years"—the past 10 years when Charles de Gaulle was France's president. Ballanger cited Premier Jacques Chaban-Delmas' general policy statement made to the assembly earlier Tuesday, which called for a national effort to make devaluation of the franc work. "It sounded like a funeral oration for your predecessors," said Ballanger, recalling that in 1968 De Gaulle had said, "There is no currency stronger than the franc."

"I won't press the point," said the Communist ironically. "It would be too cruel for you." When he finished, the Gaullists and their allies—who hold more than three fourths of the assembly's 487 seats, hooted and banged the tops of their desks. The 33 other Communists applauded as Ballanger returned to his bench. In the subsequent ballot on the premier's request for a vote of confidence, the government won an easy 369-85 victory. But the government's problem is not the National Assembly. If Chaban-Delmas and his ministers are to restore economic health to France, they must convince the trade unions to moderate their demands and stop striking. Government economists maintain an atmosphere of labor call is needed to avoid a cost-price push and to restore confidence. They fear a chain reaction of wildcat strikes may be starting, more or less with the benediction of the Communist party and its trade union, the CGT. Trainmen went on strike last Thursday. Paris urban transport workers have begun a series of work stoppages. Postal workers have served not ethey will walk out early next month. The ground crews of the internal airline Air Inter, began a 24-hour strike at midnight. Gaullist deputies acknowledged the paradox: They hold an unsavory parliamentary majority, but the Communist control the factories and the public services.

South Africa Has Less Racial Tension

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South Africa has less observable racial tension than the United States. Pretoria University Prof. Ben Marais told the South African Institute of Race Relations. Marais, who lectures in Christian history, said the lack of obvious tension does not mean this country is closer to solving its race problem. It might merely mean South Africa has not yet reached the same stage as the U.S.

There are differences between the racial problems in the two countries, he said. Americans did not always realize most black South Africans still have ties with their tribal background whereas American Negroes constitute a group without tribal ties.

This is the way it's going to be. Pontiac's 70's

Surprised that Pontiac's setting the style for the umpteenth straight year? Of course not. But you may be a bit dazzled to find out that Pontiac finally outdid Pontiac. Take Bonneville. From the strong, new bumper grille to the standard 455 under the hood, it's a rouser. Inside: instant limousine. So luxurious some of the traditional big boys are already screaming. One of the nicest things we could have done for Grand Prix's luxury was to leave it alone. We did. But we popped in a 455 V-8 for you to order. (It's an old Pontiac proverb that luxury should have power.) Enter LeMans Sport. A brand-new series in the Pontiac stable. Wait'll competition sees it pull the new 400-cubes-under-the-hood trick. We'll show you that one if you check the right box on the order form. By now, you've spotted our '70 GTO. But maybe you haven't heard it. A sound so tough we've thrown modesty to the wind and dubbed GTO "The Humbler." This is Pontiac '70. And we figure this is the way driving's going to be. So why wait? It's at your Pontiac dealer's now.

closing and reopening in 1951, Stein, now base sanitation superintendent, says, "I began to realize the marked effect that Lockbourne has on the local economy."

The next outstanding event in Stein's years here was a serious water shortage in 1955. Improved water procedures, including new wells, were the result of that crisis.

Now the base has an independent water system complete with five deep wells and its own treatment plant.

Art Stein plans to retire sometime after Jan. 1, giving him nearly 28 years of government service. Summing up his Lockbourne career, the superintendent says, "It's been an interesting job."

A lifelong Circleville resident, Stein and his wife, Mary, have two children and seven grandchildren. After quitting, Stein wants to enjoy fishing and auto trips.

LeMans Sport

GTO

(We take the fun of driving seriously.)

This is the way it's going to be. Pontiac's 70's

Surprised that Pontiac's setting the style for the umpteenth straight year? Of course not.

But you may be a bit dazzled to find out that Pontiac finally outdid Pontiac.

Take Bonneville. From the strong, new bumper grille to the standard 455 under the hood, it's a rouser.

Inside: instant limousine. So luxurious some of the traditional big boys are already screaming.

One of the nicest things we could have done for Grand Prix's luxury was to leave it alone. We did. But we popped in a 455 V-8 for you to order. (It's an old Pontiac proverb that luxury should have power.)

Enter LeMans Sport. A brand-new series in the Pontiac stable. Wait'll competition sees it pull the new 400-cubes-under-the-hood trick. We'll show you that one if you check the right box on the order form.

By now, you've spotted our '70 GTO. But maybe you haven't heard it. A sound so tough we've thrown modesty to the wind and dubbed GTO "The Humber."

This is Pontiac '70. And we figure this is the way driving's going to be. So why wait?

It's at your Pontiac dealer's now.

Sweeney Says State Demos Need Organizer Like Bliss

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Democratic contender for governor Tuesday looked to the Republican party as an example how state Democrats should run their organization.

Robert Sweeney, a Cleveland lawyer and a former congressman-at-large, said Democrats need a chairman who can bring about unity.

Sweeney said he has nothing personal against State Democratic Chairman Eugene "Pete" O'Grady, but feels he is not the man needed.

"We need somebody like Ray Bliss or John Andrews," said Sweeney. "Somebody that can pull all the diverse elements together."

Clothes Made Of Jewelry Latest Thing From Smith

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "If you've got a pair of pliers and imagination, you can do an awful lot," said an assistant to jewelry designer Bill Smith as she held up a pair of pants made of gold coins.

The pants, along with a matching vest, were one of a number of items at a show Tuesday night of Smith's latest jewelry.

The 34-year-old designer, one of the first Negroes in the business, creates dresses, suits, capes, pants, halters and hats of rhinestones, pearls, black beads and metal chain.

Smith said his designs are "jewelry as clothing. They are strong enough so they can be clothing in themselves."

A former dancer who worked in a jewelry factory when he first came to New York and finally decided he preferred jewelry, he said his designs "can be worn over clothing or instead of clothing."

The models Tuesday draped the jewels over simple jersey dresses by Jon Haggins, over body stockings and over bare skin.

Among the standout items

Rhodes Hints At Ohio Suit Against U.S.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes hinted Tuesday a federal court suit may result from recent government charges that Ohio is polluting Lake Erie.

The governor told a Chamber of Commerce meeting here that Interior Secretary Walter Hickel had been given bad advice and bad information from "incompetent and irresponsible bureaucrats" before his recent attack on Ohio's progress in halting pollution of Lake Erie.

The governor said criticism of the Toledo and Cleveland areas did not take into consideration the many moves already under way to clean up pollution by Toledo and Cleveland and steel companies along the lake.

Earlier at another Chamber of Commerce meeting in Akron, Rhodes said Michigan and the city of Detroit are the major source of Lake Erie pollution. He said other states supply 95 per cent of the water in the lake, but Ohio gets all the blame for pollution because it has the longest shoreline.

"They have been running up and down Lake Erie on the Ohio side without looking to the Detroit side and the Detroit River where much of the lake contamination originates," the governor said.

"We're going to have a showdown within a very short time," Rhodes told his Akron audience. He said a federal suit against the other states which are polluting the lake is a possibility.

Ex-Child Star U.N. Delegate

NEW YORK (AP) — Shirley Temple Black has been sworn in as one of the 10 U.S. delegates to the U.N. General Assembly and will specialize on environmental and social questions.

After the ceremony Tuesday, the former child actress told a news conference she was concerned with "air pollution and water problems."

"I would hope we could work toward peace and human brotherhood and to improve the environmental situation in the world," she said.

WINDSHIELDS REPLACED GORDON'S

Main and Scioto

Sweeney told The Associated Press that neither Bliss, former state and national GOP chairman, nor Andrews, his successor in the state post, were dynamic personalities.

"They aren't talkers, they're listeners," he said. "That's what we need. The Democratic party too often goes for personalities rather than development of a policy that can bring all elements together."

Sweeney, often at odds with party leaders because of his independence, said the party needs to be more aligned with the thinking of Ohio voters.

He also cited what he called a laxity on the part of cities and the state in the field of law enforcement.

Sweeney said police in Cleveland, as an example, have not been enforcing the law. He cited statistics showing that murders in Cleveland totaled 139 as of Aug. 1 compared to 94 during all of 1968. Rapes, robberies, assaults and auto thefts are also above last year's year-end totals, he said.

"And the police in Cleveland are the highest paid in the state," he added. "It shows something is not being done."

Burch Named As Successor To Rosel Hyde

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dean Burch, the Tucson, Ariz., lawyer who was Barry Goldwater's hand-picked chairman of the Republican National Committee in 1964, will be nominated as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, President Nixon announced.

Nixon's announcement Tuesday of his intention to nominate the 41-year-old Burch to the $40,000-a-year FCC post followed several weeks of speculation that the former presidential campaign manager for Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater was to get the job.

The President also said he would nominate Robert Wells of Garden City, Kan., as a $38,000-a-year member of the commission. Wells is manager of the Harris Radio Group, which has stations in Kansas, Iowa, Illinois and Colorado.

Burch, the Senate concurring, will succeed Chairman Rosel H. Hyde, whose term has expired. Wells will succeed Commissioner James J. Wadsworth, who has resigned.

SCOUT AWARD — The 1968 Pickaway District Boy Scout Advancement Award was presented to James Shank (left), Scoutmaster of Troop 52 and William Camp (right), Cubmaster of Pack 205 by Charles Schieman, District Advancement Committee Chairman at the September District Roundtable meeting. This award is presented annually to the Boy Scout and Cub Scout unit having the most individual scout advancements per member. Others receiving awards include: Pack 52, Harold Thompson; Troop 534, Phil West for second place; and Troop 170, Hal Whitfield; Pack 170, Joe Beck for third place.

Sweeney Says State Demos Need Organizer Like Bliss

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Democratic contender for governor Tuesday looked to the Republican party as an example how state Democrats should run their organization.

Robert Sweeney, a Cleveland lawyer and a former congressman-at-large, said Democrats need a chairman who can bring about unity.

Sweeney said he has nothing personal against State Democratic Chairman Eugene "Pete" O'Grady, but feels he is not the man needed.

"We need somebody like Ray Bliss or John Andrews," said Sweeney. "Somebody that can pull all the diverse elements together."

Sweeney told The Associated Press that neither Bliss, former state and national GOP chairman, nor Andrews, his successor in the state post, were dynamic personalities.

"They aren't talkers, they're listeners," he said. "That's what we need. The Democratic party too often goes for personalities rather than development of a policy that can bring all elements together."

Sweeney, often at odds with party leaders because of his independence, said the party needs to be more aligned with the thinking of Ohio voters.

He also cited what he called a laxity on the part of cities and the state in the field of law enforcement.

Sweeney said police in Cleveland, as an example, have not been enforcing the law. He cited statistics showing that murders in Cleveland totaled 139 as of Aug. 1 compared to 94 during all of 1968. Rapes, robberies, assaults and auto thefts are also above last year's year-end totals, he said.

"And the police in Cleveland are the highest paid in the state," he added. "It shows something is not being done."

Burch Named As Successor To Rosel Hyde

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dean Burch, the Tucson, Ariz., lawyer who was Barry Goldwater's hand-picked chairman of the Republican National Committee in 1964, will be nominated as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, President Nixon announced.

Nixon's announcement Tuesday of his intention to nominate the 41-year-old Burch to the $40,000-a-year FCC post followed several weeks of speculation that the former presidential campaign manager for Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater was to get the job.

The President also said he would nominate Robert Wells of Garden City, Kan., as a $38,000-a-year member of the commission. Wells is manager of the Harris Radio Group, which has stations in Kansas, Iowa, Illinois and Colorado.

Burch, the Senate concurring, will succeed Chairman Rosel H. Hyde, whose term has expired. Wells will succeed Commissioner James J. Wadsworth, who has resigned.

Clothes Made Of Jewelry Latest Thing From Smith

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "If you've got a pair of pliers and imagination, you can do an awful lot," said an assistant to jewelry designer Bill Smith as she held up a pair of pants made of gold coins.

The pants, along with a matching vest, were one of a number of items at a show Tuesday night of Smith's latest jewelry.

The 34-year-old designer, one of the first Negroes in the business, creates dresses, suits, capes, pants, halters and hats of rhinestones, pearls, black beads and metal chain.

Smith said his designs are "jewelry as clothing. They are strong enough so they can be clothing in themselves."

A former dancer who worked in a jewelry factory when he first came to New York and finally decided he preferred jewelry, he said his designs "can be worn over clothing or instead of clothing."

The models Tuesday draped the jewels over simple jersey dresses by Jon Haggins, over body stockings and over bare skin.

Among the standout items

were a long scarf of pearls, trimmed with cloth tassels, a metal cape with "pearlized" corks, a floor-length skirt of ropes of pearls, a short skirt and vest of jet beads and a pearl cape.

There are about two dozen pieces in the collection for Richlieu, retailing for between $35 and $250. The pearl scarf, for example, is $150.

Smith admitted that "not everyone can wear these things. There are many people however who will make sacrifices for beauty."

Among the disadvantages of the jewelry clothing is their weight. The pearls Smith uses have an alabaster or plastic base, but they still make a six-foot scarf pretty weighty.

Rhodes Hints At Ohio Suit Against U.S.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes hinted Tuesday a federal court suit may result from recent government charges that Ohio is polluting Lake Erie.

The governor told a Chamber of Commerce meeting here that Interior Secretary Walter Hickel had been given bad advice and bad information from "incompetent and irresponsible bureaucrats" before his recent attack on Ohio's progress in halting pollution of Lake Erie.

The governor said criticism of the Toledo and Cleveland areas did not take into consideration the many moves already under way to clean up pollution by Toledo and Cleveland and steel companies along the lake.

Earlier at another Chamber of Commerce meeting in Akron, Rhodes said Michigan and the city of Detroit are the major source of Lake Erie pollution. He said other states supply 95 per cent of the water in the lake, but Ohio gets all the blame for pollution because it has the longest shoreline.

"They have been running up and down Lake Erie on the Ohio side without looking to the Detroit side and the Detroit River where much of the lake contamination originates," the governor said.

"We're going to have a showdown within a very short time," Rhodes told his Akron audience. He said a federal suit against the other states which are polluting the lake is a possibility.

Ex-Child Star U.N. Delegate

NEW YORK (AP) — Shirley Temple Black has been sworn in as one of the 10 U.S. delegates to the U.N. General Assembly and will specialize on environmental and social questions.

After the ceremony Tuesday, the former child actress told a news conference she was concerned with "air pollution and water problems."

"I would hope we could work toward peace and human brotherhood and to improve the environmental situation in the world," she said.

Fearless Forecaster Makes 1st Grid Picks Of 69' Season

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The chase is on.

But, as college football's 101st season gets into full swing this weekend, the race will not be to the swiftest—for one Saturday, at least.

That's because Ohio State's talent-rich Buckeyes, fresh from a perfect 1968 campaign and a convincing triumph over Southern California and O.J. Simpson in the Rose Bowl, doesn't open its season until Sept. 27.

Woody Hayes' crew, national champions in The Associated Press' final 1968 poll, were run-away leaders in this year's pre-season balloting. But there's nothing they can do this weekend except sit back and watch the challengers do their stuff. The Buckeyes will still be No. 1 when Monday rolls around.

How's this for the first pick of the season—Virginia Tech over 13th-ranked Alabama. Tech Coach Jerry Clairborne, a former assistant at Alabama under Bear Bryant, has two-dozen lettermen back from a team that came within 14-7 of the Crimson Tide last year on the road.

Except for the secondary, the Gobblers have no apparent weakness and Mike Widger is an All-American linebacker.

The No. 2 and 3 teams in the rankings—Arkansas and Penn State—should have no trouble with Oklahoma State and Navy, respectively. Junior quarterback whiz Bill Montgomery leads Arkansas against an Oklahoma State team which debuts under Coach Floyd Gass, who may want to take the pipe when the Razorbacks get through.

Penn State is shooting for its third consecutive Eastern title and, as usual, Coach Joe Paterno has the guns. They include halfback Charlie Pittman, line-backer Dennis Onkotz and defensive tackles Mike Reid and Steve Smear.

TEXAS over CALIFORNIA—California is an unknown quantity; Texas isn't. The fourth-ranked Longhorns have the passing in James Street, the running in Soeve Worster and Ted Koy and the defense in tackle Leo Brooks.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA over NEBRASKA—The Trojans, ranked fifth, have lost O. J. Simpson but will unveil Clarence Davis, who surpassed Simpson's junior college figures.

OKLAHOMA over WISCONSIN—John Coatta still is looking for his first coaching victory, but this won't be it, despite the debut of breakaway halfback Greg "Grape Juice" Johnson. Oklahoma's Steve Owens is a Heisman Trophy candidate.

HOUSTON over FLORIDA—The Cougars have a superb passing duo in quarterback Ken Bjiley and split end Elmo Wright.

GEORGIA over TULANE—Quarterback Wayne Francigues came within 100 yards of setting a Tulane offense record last year but Georgia quarterback Mike Cavan has too many helpers.

MISSISSIPPI over MEMPHIS STATE—How strong is Ole Miss? Memphis State has 33 lettermen from last year's Missouri Valley champs—and isn't favored. Junior QB Archie Manning leads the Rebels.

MISSOURI over AIR FORCE—This one's no cinch, though.

The Air Force held off the air attack of Southern Methodist's Chuck Hixson in the opener, but Missouri came of age with a 35-10 rout of Alabama in the Gator Bowl.

Old Oaken Bucket Set Today; Little Brown Jug Thursday

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — The running of the $22,477 Old Oaken Bucket for 3-year-old trotters headlines today's Grand Circuit program at the Delaware County Fairgrounds.

Two more national season records were set Tuesday in the second day of racing. The activity culminates Thursday with the Little Brown Jug classic.

Majette, with Art Hulp up, won the $12,050 Walnut Hall Farm Breeders Filly Stake 2-year-old pace Tuesday in straight heats. Her 2:03 3/5 in the second heat bettered the former season standard of 2:03 4/5 set July 1 at Goshen, N.Y. by Betty Hanover.

Floribert, driven by Glen

Garnsey, went into the record book by winning the second heat of the $7,537 Walnut Hall Breeders Filly 2-year-old trot in 2:05. The performance bettered the former season mark of 2:05 1/5 set by Lady Candor at Saratoga, N.Y., Aug. 18.

Lightning Wave, with Marc Ferguson as the driver, was awarded the No. 1 post position Tuesday in the first division of the 24th renewal of the Brown Jug. Nardine Grand Slam with George Nolly drew the No. 1 position in the second division.

Sixteen 3-year-olds will race Thursday in the richest Jug ever — $109,731. The entry of more than 14 horses in the race made mandatory a divisional breakdown with eight running in each bracket.

Two prime favorites—Laverne Hanover and Kat Byrd—landed in the second division. The top pick in the first division is Stanley Dancer's Bye Bye Sam.

Billy Houghton, who has Nardine Grand Slam entered in the second division along with Laverne Hanover, will be seeking an unprecedented fourth Jug victory. He won handily last year with Rum Customer.

The number of starters this year is three short of the record field of 19, set in 1961.

The first post for the first division will be about 1:45 p.m. The second division will follow shortly afterward. An hour later, the first four finishers in each division will return for a third heat.

If that produces a third winner, the winners of the three heats will race off an hour later for the Jug title.

Bengals No Pushover, Brown Says

CINCINNATI (AP) — American Football League teams are finding that the Cincinnati Bengals are not pushovers, even though they are only a second-year team.

"We're a snootful," Coach Paul Brown said Tuesday after reviewing films of Cincinnati's 27-21 decision Sunday over Miami. "We're not easy for anyone. And they don't like it because second-year teams aren't supposed to be that way."

The victory, coming in both teams first regular season game, followed a 3-2 record in preseason action.

"Miami was well prepared for us," Brown said. "They had worked special for this game. They had prepared an ambush."

Brown cited the play of rookie Greg Cook, a quarterback and Bill Peterson, a linebacker, and also commended veteran Eric Crabtree who caught two touchdown passes from Cook.

Braves, Vikings Tangle Friday

Logan Elm and Teays Valley football teams clash this Friday on the Viking gridiron.

It will be Parents Night at Teays Valley and a pre game program is slated to begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. Parents of the TVHS varsity members are to be at the field at 7:15 p.m.

Coach Dick Kidwell of Teays Valley reports his charges are looking toward the game with renewed confidence since their 37-14 win over Circleville last week.

"Logan Elm has had trouble generating an offense," Kidwell said. "Their defense might give us some problems, particularly in our blocking."

KIDWELL plans to start basically the same lineup that went against the Tigers last week, with the exception of Dan Hicks, the lone casualty in the game.

Hicks, a halfback, sustained a separated shoulder in the tilt and will be out of action for at least two weeks.

Stan Clay, a junior transfer student from Franklin Heights, earned the starting quarterback position last week, even though the injured Scott Barr is healthy again. Barr started in the signal calling slot in the first game.

At fullback, Kidwell has Ron Crosby and Champ Henson. The tailback is Bob Tucker and Don Bell will start at halfback in place of Hicks.

Along the line the Viking starters will be Jeff Helsler, Mike Thomas and John Tucker at ends; Don Stir and Jack Brinker at tackles, Mike Mapes and Chuck Frazier at guards and Mike Schiff at center.

Logan Elm coach Mark Albright had planned to insert three freshmen into the lineup Friday, but all three are on the injury list.

"WE wanted to look at Kenny Kurtz at halfback, Jack Randal at guard and Mike Williams," Albright said. But all three can be expected to see only limited action.

Kurtz has a back injury that ruled him out of any paying time, the coach believes. Otherwise, the Braves are healthy. But Albright believes that his team will have its hands full against the bigger and faster Vikings.

Starters for the Braves should be Steve Curtis at quarterback, John Weaver and Wirtie Teets at halfbacks, either Jim Fox or Bob McAfee at fullback, Dan Ankrom and Steve Sykes at ends, Roger Evans and Jim Younklin at tackles, Kenny Dean and Ralph Robey at guards and Mark Kempton at center.

The only personnel switch on defense is at end, where sophomore Brad Barr will start. Ankrom moves to linebacker and the Braves' fullback is rested.

This is the final game for the Vikings before the metropolitan League play begins.

Logan Elm has an open date on its schedule and is currently negotiating to fill it with a home game next week. Chuck Pritchard, athletic director, reported he would know late today if the Braves will have an opponent.

CHS Harriers Win Initial Meet, 18-37

The Circleville High School cross country team won its initial meet of the season, defeating Westfall, 18-37.

Circleville harriers finished first and second in the meet. Phil Pike, the team captain, toured the two mile course at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds in 10:39.

Bill McGowan finished 20 seconds behind Pike with a clocking of 10:59.

Westfall's Randy Alkire was third with a time of 11:16. Circleville runners then finished fourth, fifth and sixth. Joe McGowan was clocked in 11:23, Craig Dresbach in 11:24 and Dave Lingo in 11:40.

WESTFALL garnered the next four places. Eitel was seventh, Patterson eighth, Beatty ninth and Williams tenth.

The Tiger harriers travel to Fairfield Union Thursday for a meet.

American Team Eyes Ryder Cup

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — The 42-year-old Ryder Cup got around today to the simple question of whether the relaxed rich will win again or will the battling poor pull off an upset.

The 12-man American professional team, which has won $1.5 million this year, scratched around Royal Birkdale's 7,140-yard par 74 golf course as though on holiday.

Jim Dye Rejoins Toronto Argonauts

TORONTO (AP) — Jim Dye, a defensive backfield standout with the Toronto Argonauts last year, rejoined the Canadian Football League club Tuesday.

Coach Leo Cahill dropped running back Bobby Morgan to make room for Dye on the import roster. Dye recently completed a stint in the U.S. Army.

Dodgers Take Doubleheader To Put Cincy Down List

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wes Parker had just driven in all of Los Angeles' runs in the second game of Tuesday night's doubleheader sweep of Cincinnati and the newsmen crowded around his locker to capture some of the drama.

But Wes threw them a curve. Instead of reciting his own heroics he tossed a pitch for Ted Sizemore, the Dodgers' National League rookie of the year candidate.

"You know," remarked Parker, "that Sizemore is the most underrated player on our ball club."

"The fans who only see him play now and then just don't fully appreciate what he means to this team."

"Like in this game. When he hustled that single into a double he turned the whole game around."

The sparkling little rookie had started off the 12th inning of the second game with his double and wound up scoring on Parker's bases-loaded single. Wes' third RBI of the game.

The Dodgers won it, 3-2, after edging Cincinnati in the first game, 2-1, to slip into second place in the NL West.

The Dodgers had to roar from behind in both games. They scored twice in the ninth inning of the opener to beat Gary Nolan. Parker's single capped an uphill climb in the second game.

And Jim Brewer was the winning pitcher in both games, squaring his season record at 6-6.

"That Nolan pitched a fantastic game in the first game," said Parker, who wound up scoring the winning run. "And so did Singer."

Bullet Bill Singer was shooting for his 20th win but, like teammate Claude Osteen the night before, failed to get it. Singer and Nolan battled through seven scoreless innings before Cincinnati's John Bench doubled home Alex Johnson in the eighth.

But Nolan weakened in the ninth as the Dodgers loaded the bases on one-out singles by Willie Davis and Len Gabrielson and a walk to Parker. Willie Crawford drew a walk to force in one run and tie the game. And Jim Lefebvre rounded to Woody Woodward at shortstop, who fired to Bench at the plate to get the second out. But Bench's relay to first was in the dirt and skidded into right field to permit Parker to score from third with the winning run.

Parker's sacrifice fly gave the Dodgers their first run in the second game after Cincinnati had opened with two runs in the first round against Joe Moeller.

And Parker tied it with a run-scoring double in the sixth.

In the ninth, with Pedro Ramos taking over for Clay Carroll, Sizemore legged out his double and, after the Dodgers managed to load the bases, pranced home on Parker's single to right.

Old Oaken Bucket Set Today; Little Brown Jug Thursday

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — The running of the $22,477 Old Oaken Bucket for 3-year-old trotters headlines today's Grand Circuit program at the Delaware County Fairgrounds.

Two more national season records were set Tuesday in the second day of racing. The activity culminates Thursday with the Little Brown Jug classic.

Majette, with Art Hulp up, won the $12,050 Walnut Hall Farm Breeders Filly Stake 2-year-old pace Tuesday in straight heats. Her 2:03 3/5 in the second heat bettered the former season standard of 2:03 4/5 set July 1 at Goshen, N.Y. by Betty Hanover.

Floribert, driven by Glen

Fearless . . .

says Ara Parseghian, noting that ND, an independent which doesn't go to bowls, has only the national championship to shoot for. The Irish may lose before too long, but not this year—and not to Northwestern.

The rest of the picks look like this:

EAST—Syracuse over Iowa State; Army over New Mexico; Xavier, Ohio over Buffalo; The Citadel over Lehigh; Colgate over Boston U.; Rutgers over Lafayette.

SOUTH—Indiana over Kentucky; Tennessee over Chattanooga; Auburn over Wake Forest; Florida State over Wichita State; Louisiana State over Texas A&M; North Carolina State over North Carolina; Richmond over Mississippi State; South Carolina over Duke; Southern Methodist over Georgia Tech; West Virginia over Maryland; Clemson over Virginia; Davidson over Guilford; East Carolina over East Tennessee; Morehead State over Marshall; Southern Mississippi over Southwest Louisiana.

MIDWEST—Michigan State over Washington; Colorado over east Louisiana.

MIDWEST—Michigan State over Washington; Colorado over Tulsa; Ohio U. over Kent State; Michigan over Vanderbilt; Iowa over Oregon State; Bowling Green over Utah State; Cincinnati over Wm. & Mary; Washington State over Illinois; Southern Illinois over Louisville; Miami, Ohio over Dayton; Toledo over Villanova.

SOUTHWEST—Purdue over Texas Christian; New Mexico State over Howard Payne; North Texas State over Southwestern Louisiana; Rice over VMI; West Texas State over Northern Arizona.

FAR WEST—Stanford over San Jose State; UCLA over Pitt; Arizona State over Minnesota; Wyoming over Arizona; Colorado State U. over Brigham Young; Oregon over Utah; Pacific over Western Michigan.

Bengals No Pushover, Brown Says

CINCINNATI (AP) — American Football League teams are finding that the Cincinnati Bengals are not pushovers, even though they are only a second-year team.

"We're a snootful," Coach Paul Brown said Tuesday after reviewing films of Cincinnati's 27-21 decision Sunday over Miami. "We're not easy for anyone. And they don't like it because second-year teams aren't supposed to be that way."

The victory, coming in both teams' first regular season game, followed a 3-2 record in preseason action.

"Miami was well prepared for us," Brown said. "They had worked special for this game. They had prepared an ambush." Brown cited the play of rookie Greg Cook, a quarterback, and Bill Peterson, a linebacker, and also commended veteran Eric Crabtree who caught two touchdown passes from Cook.

Braves, Vikings Tangle Friday

Logan Elm and Teays Valley football teams clash this Friday on the Viking gridiron.

It will be Parents Night at Teays Valley and a pre game program is slated to begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. Parents of the TVHS varsity members are to be at the field at 7:15 p.m.

Coach Dick Kidwell of Teays Valley reports his charges are looking toward the game with renewed confidence since their 37-14 win over Circleville last week.

"Logan Elm has had trouble generating an offense," Kidwell said. "Their defense might give us some problems, particularly in our blocking."

KIDWELL plans to start basically the same lineup that went against the Tigers last week, with the exception of Dan Hicks, the lone casualty in the game.

Hicks, a halfback, sustained a separated shoulder in the tilt and will be out of action for at least two weeks.

Stan Clay, a junior transfer student from Franklin Heights, earned the starting quarterback position last week, even though

CHS Harriers Win Initial Meet, 18-37

The Circleville High School cross country team won its initial meet of the season, defeating Westfall, 18-37.

Circleville harriers finished first and second in the meet. Phil Pike, the team captain, toured the two mile course at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds in 10:39.

Bill McGowan finished 20 seconds behind Pike with a clocking of 10:59.

Westfall's Randy Alkire was third with a time of 11:16. Circleville runners then finished fourth, fifth and sixth. Joe McGowan was clocked in 11:23, Craig Dresbach in 11:24 and Dave Lingo in 11:40.

WESTFALL garnered the next four places. Etel was seventh, Patterson eighth, Beatty ninth and Williams tenth.

The Tiger harriers travel to Fairfield Union Thursday for a meet.

American Team Eyes Ryder Cup

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — The 42-year-old Ryder Cup got around today to hte simple question of whether the relaxed rich will win again or will the battling poor pull off an upset.

The 12-man American professional team, which has won $1.5 million this year, scratched around Royal Birkdale's 7,140-yard par 74 golf course as though on holiday.

Jim Dye Rejoins Toronto Argonauts

TORONTO (AP) — Jim Dye, a defensive backfield standout with the Toronto Argonauts last year, rejoined the Canadian Football League club Tuesday.

Coach Leo Cahill dropped running back Bobby Morgan to make room for Dye on the import roster. Dye recently completed a stint in the U.S. Army.

Dodgers Take Doubleheader To Put Cincy Down List

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wes Parker had just driven in all of Los Angeles' runs in the second game of Tuesday night's doubleheader sweep of Cincinnati and the newsmen crowded around his locker to capture some of the drama.

But Wes threw them a curve. Instead of reciting his own heroics he tossed a pitch for Ted Sizemore, the Dodgers' National League rookie of the year candidate.

"You know," remarked Parker, "that Sizemore is the most underrated player on our ball club."

"The fans who only see him play now and then just don't fully appreciate what he means to this team."

"Like in this game. When he hustled that single into a double he turned the whole game around."

The sparkling little rookie had started off the 12th inning of the second game with his double and wound up scoring on Parker's bases-loaded single. Wes' third RBI of the game.

The Dodgers won it, 3-2, after edging Cincinnati in the first game, 2-1, to slip into second place in the NL West.

The Dodgers had to roar from behind in both games. They scored twice in the ninth inning of the opener to beat Gary Nolan. Parker's single capped an uphill climb in the second game.

And Jim Brewer was the winning pitcher in both games, squaring his season record at 6-6.

"That Nolan pitched a fantastic game in the first game," said Parker, who wound up scoring the winning run. "And so did Singer."

Bullet Bill Singer was shooting for his 20th win but, like teammate Claude Osteen the night before, failed to get it.

Singer and Nolan battled through seven scoreless innings before Cincinnati's John Bench doubled home Alex Johnson in the eighth.

Baltimore Nips Washington, 1-0

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

You'll have to give Dave McNally credit for one thing—he'll do anything to shake off a losing streak... even get a hit.

McNally, who had produced only six hits all season and an anemic .071 average going into the game, singled home the only run as Baltimore nipped the Washington Senators 1-0 Tuesday night.

It gave the left-hander his second straight victory—the first time since his 17-game two-season victory string was snapped Aug. 3 that he's managed to string together that many triumphs.

Meanwhile, Harmon Killebrew took another big step toward winning the American League homer title away from Frank Howard and Reggie Jackson by walloping his 44th of the season—a three-run shot—in leading Minnesota past Oakland 11-3.

That increased the Twins' lead over the A's to 10 games in the AL West and cut Minnesota's magic number for clinching the crown to just six.

In other games, Cleveland whipped Boston 5-2, Kansas City nipped Seattle 2-1, the New York Yankees topped Detroit 7-6 in 13 innings and the Chicago White Sox won a doubleheader from California, 7-4 and 3-2.

McNally, who won his first 15 games this season, boosted his record to 19-6, although he needed Ed Watt to get the last Senators out.

His clincher was a bloop single to center in the sixth, scoring Merv Rettenmund, who had singled. McNally also sent Howard to the fence in left for his liner with the bases loaded and two out in the second, and led off the fifth with a double although he didn't score.

Killebrew, who was 6-for-6 with four homers and 12 RBI in the three games with the A's before his sixth inning strikeout, lofted his three-run homer into the left field pavillion in the first inning.

It raised his major league leading RBI total to 134 and put the stocky slugger just two away from the AL homer leading totals of Oakland's Jackson and Howard.

John Roseboro, with his third homer, and Leo Cardenas, No. 10, came up with consecutive solo homers in the fourth to add to the rout.

The Twins then put it out of doubt with six runs in the fifth, when Rod Carew drove in two runs with a triple, Cesar Tovar two with a single and winner Jim Perry, 19-6, and Cardenas one each with singles.

Despite the sweep of the series with their only contender, Twins Manager Billy Martin refused to talk about a title yet.

"After six more wins or when we win this thing, we'll start thinking about Baltimore," said the freshman skipper.

NEW YORK (AP) — Harold "Red" Grange is the only unanimous choice on the modern all-time college football team named today by the Football Writers of America.

Grange ran to college football legend from 1923 through 1925 as Illinois' Galloping Ghost.

Just one vote shy of unanimous selection was Bronislaw "Bronko" Nagurski who starred at tackle for Minnesota from 1927-29.

Only one player on the team played his college ball after 1940—Jim Parker, Ohio State guard from 1954-56.

Other members of the team are ends Bennie Oosterbann, Michigan, and Don Hutson, Alabama; tackle Frank "Bruiser" Kinard, Mississippi; guard Bob Suffridge, Tennessee; center Mel Hein, Washington State, and backs Sammy Baugh, Texas; Christian; Jay Berwanger, Chicago, and Ernie Nevers, Stanford.

FOOTBALL STAMP—Here's the new U.S. 6-cent postage stamp to be issued at New Brunswick, N.J., Sept. 26, saluting the 100th anniversary of collegiate football. The figures are in green. The word "football" is in red modified barnum. Also in red is lettering "1869-1969" and "U.S. 6c."

Welfare Changes Being Held Up Due To Difficulties

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon's welfare reform proposals remain lodged at the White House in their 11th draft because of kinks in the family assistance program.

Congress probably will have to wait another two weeks before receiving a final detailed package of welfare legislation, government sources say.

The President said last month he wants to replace aid programs for dependent children with a sweeping family assistance program that would provide minimum aid of $1,600 a year to a needy family of four.

And for the first time, a working family of four with income less than $3,920 a year could receive a cash supplement under the proposal.

White House drafters say completion of the family assistance plan is being slowed by such questions as these:

—What amount of personal assets can a family retain and still be eligible for aid?

—How many times a year must a family report its income for recomputation of benefits?

—How long should a person have to wait for his first monthly check after making application?

—What value should be placed on the land of a farmer who has had several years of crop failure?

Other issues, appearing trivial on the surface but still important, have been settled, sources say.

A family would be able to keep its house, for example, and still receive benefits. A tenant farmer would not be docked the value of vegetables grown in his own garden.

Robert M. Ball, commissioner of the Social Security Administration, concedes there are difficulties in running a nationwide family assistance program.

But Ball, whose agency would get the job, said in an interview he is confident they can be overcome.

One thing certain to be needed, said Ball, is a massive publicity campaign similar to the one that brought 20 million elderly persons into the Medicare system.

In addition, he said, his agency would have to expand store front operations in big cities and mobile offices in rural areas.

Ball and other officials in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare admit special problems would be posed by the odd job man, the seasonal or migrant worker and the tenant farmer.

The biggest task would be informing these sometimes illiterate people of family assistance and bringing them into the program, Ball said.

FIRST WOMAN admitted to membership in the 121-year-old Chicago Board of Trade is Carol Jane Ovitiz, 26, shown on the trading floor.

Red China 'People's Courts' Reportedly Slaying Foes

HONG KONG (AP)—"Mass denunciation" meetings in Communist China are being turned into huge, hysteria-ridden people's courts that are sending persons accused of anti-Maoist activities to their death, it was reported here today.

The reports, which reputable Western sources say have been authenticated to their satisfaction, say that since early August there have been at least three such people's court sessions in Peking that resulted in summary executions.

Other reports, not considered as solidly authenticated but given considerable credence, say there have been more such sessions in Peking as well as in Canton, the South China metropolis 90 miles northwest of Hong Kong; in Wuhan, in Shanghai and in Taiyuan.

In the Peking sessions, the reports said, more than 30,000 people crowded into a sports stadium. The accused persons were paraded onto a platform, and Communist authorities accused them of "great and heinous crimes" against party Chairman Mao Tse-tung; his political heir, Defense Minister Lin Biao; the party and the state.

The accused were not allowed to speak, and no one spoke on their behalf. The prosecutors asked the crowd: "Are these men guilty?"

The crowd, by that time whipped into a frenzy, shouted: "Guilty!"

"What penalty?" the Communist authorities asked. "Kill them!" the crowd roared.

Immediately, the reports continued, the Communist authorities selected "representatives" from various parts of the stadium to be "execution witnesses." The accused persons were marched out of the stadium, followed by the witnesses and an execution squad of soldiers.

Shots were heard just outside the stadium, and the witnesses returned to report to the waiting crowd that the executions had been carried out.

Travelers arriving from Canton reported that in at least one such trial there, army squads executed the culprits in full view of the crowd.

"NEGLIGENCE"—A U.S. military court at Subic Bay, the Philippines, found Cmdr. Albert S. McLemore (above), skipper of the destroyer Evans, guilty of negligence in the June 3 collision with an Australian aircraft carrier that killed 74 American sailors.

McLemore, 40, Vallejo, Calif., was asleep at the time, and six officers testified he left wake-up orders for South China Sea maneuvers. He got a reprimand.

$1 Million Suit Filed In Crash

CHICAGO (AP)—The widow of a Middletown, Ohio, man killed Sept. 9 in the crash of an Allegheny Airlines jet following a midair collision near Indianapolis has sued Allegheny and Douglas Aircraft Corp. for $1 million.

Sandra J. Bays, 32, charged Allegheny was negligent and careless in maintenance and operation of the DC9. The suit filed in Circuit Court here also alleged the aircraft did not carry sufficient radar warning devices which could have prevented the collision.

Mrs. Bays' husband, Ralph, 33, was one of 53 persons killed in the crash.
